Ike Advisers Ask Vast Program of Arms, Education

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's commission on national goals has outlined a program for America in the 1960s that calls for adequate arms no matter what the cost and billions of dollars more for education, foreign aid and research.

This could mean a tax increase, the commission of 11 distinguished Americans concluded in a 30-page report made public by the White House Sunday. A copy was sent to President-elect John F. Kennedy.

The national goals proposed by the commission also included the elimination of racial segregation, the reduction of unemployment, and a foreign policy that preserves the United Nations while remaining ready to negotiate with the Soviet Union on any reasonable basis.

The commission and its report stem from President Eisenhower's State of the Union message almost two years ago. In it, the President said the nation should define its national purpose and goals.

The report now serves as a legacy from the Eisenhower administration to the incoming Kennedy administration. In several respects, the recommendations resemble the "New Frontiers" program outlined by Kennedy in his campaign.

Eisenhower created the commission last January naming Dr. Henry M. Wriston as chairman. Dr. Wriston is president-emeritus of Brown University and president of the American Assembly, an educational institution.

Frank Pace Jr., chairman of General Dynamics Corp., and a former secretary of the army, is vice chairman.

Members of the commission did not agree on all goals. Among them, AFL-CIO President George Meany dissented from several recommendations.

Meany added a general statement that said:

"The commission's report marches right up to the issues, always faces them boldly, then often turns away, without making the necessary, if sometimes unpopular, proposals for attaining the very goals the commission believes necessary."

On the question of racial and religious discrimination, the commission said racial segregation should be wiped out by 1970 and barriers in education, voting, housing and other fields should be sharply lowered by that date.

In the field of defense, the commission said the United States should maintain and strengthen the military alliances of the free world. But, the commission continued, nuclear disarmament should be the ultimate goal.

Foreign aid, the report said, should be increased and shared by all major free nations. By 1965, the commission recommended, the United States should contribute $5 billion or $5.5 billion a year in foreign aid. It has averaged $3.4 billion in recent years.

In education, the commission proposed outright federal grants to states having low per capita income. Other states would match federal funds with their own money.

Tax revision also was proposed. The commission said this would include more liberal depreciation allowances for industry and the closing of tax loopholes.

In economics, the commission said the present rate of unemployment—6.4 per cent—was too high. It should be kept below 4 per cent, the report said.

The commission also said that studies have indicated that national output can be increased by 3.4 to 5 per cent a year "without extraordinary stimulating measures."

Three Suffer Minor Hurts In Collision

A mother and two daughters were slightly injured when two cars collided at 4:25 p. m. Saturday on Route 56 about 15 miles north-west of here.

Patsy L. Smith, 25, Route 3, Mt. Sterling, driver of one car, suffered lacerations and bruises. Her daughters, Brenda Kay, 2, and Kimberly Sue, 4 months, received bumps and bruises. All were treated by a Mt. Sterling physician.

The other auto was operated by Willis Conley, 40, Route 1, Mt. Sterling. He was not hurt. Deputy Homer Adams said Conley's eastbound car had stopped to make a left turn into a driveway. He said the other auto struck the vehicle in the rear.

Both cars were extensively damaged, Deputy Adams said.

THESE ARE HAPPY DAYS — Clinging to her doll with one hand and her father's finger with the other, Caroline Kennedy walks with the President-elect from their home to church services on her third birthday, Sunday. Following the church services, Kennedy took his daughter back home and then visited his wife and new-born son in Georgetown Hospital. The book in Kennedy's hand is a child's prayer book.

Kennedy Family Doing Fine But Daddy Has His Troubles

WASHINGTON (AP)—The John F. Kennedys—father who's president-elect, mother, newborn son and small daughter—all appear to be doing splendidly, thank you, after quite a weekend.

Father from time to time, however did show some slight signs of harassment.

The job of preparing to take over the presidency Jan. 20 is enough to keep any man extremely busy, but Kennedy's chores have multiplied rapidly since John Fitzgerald Kennedy Jr. arrived early Friday, three weeks ahead of schedule.

Kennedy in the last few days

has taken on these added assignments:

Regular visits to his wife and infant boy at Georgetown University hospital.

Part-time baby-sitter with his daughter Caroline, who was three years old Sunday.

Occasional custodian of Caroline's rag doll.

Retriever of Caroline from beneath church pews.

Over the weekend, the president-elect solved one problem—how to tell Caroline about the addition to the family. He informed her that her mother was away getting her a brother.

Sunday morning the president-elect and Caroline came out of their N Street home and walked three blocks to Mass at Holy Trinity church.

Her father had her picture prayer book in his hand and she carried a rag doll. But they hadn't gone half a block when Caroline handed the doll to the president-elect and he dangled it from his left hand the rest of the way to church.

Inside the church, second pew from the rear in the choir loft, Kennedy had his troubles.

Caroline, who had been greeted with "happy birthday" shouts all along the way, was in bubbling spirits and never sat still for an instant.

She sprawled on the kneeling bench. She stretched out on the seat. She ducked under the pew.

She clambered over a pew divider and snuggled up to a teen-age girl.

At that point daddy retrieved her. Once more she scrambled under the pew, once more she was retrieved and spent the rest of the service on her father's lap. But she kept right on wriggling and paid small attention to her father's efforts to shush her.

Veteran Mississippi Congressman Dies

TUPELO, Miss. (AP)—Funeral services were scheduled today for former Rep. John Elliott Rankin, D-Miss., who helped map the GI Bill of Rights after World War II. Rankin, who was elected to Congress in 1920 and served for 52 years, died at his home Saturday night. He was 78.

Rankin, a member of the House Un-American Activities Committee, was noted for his white supremacy and states rights stands. He was outspokenly anti-Negro anti-Jewish, anti-Communist and anti-union.

Entry Suspects Held for Jury

Deputy Felkey Files On Chillicothe Man

Two Chillicothe men accused of entering Winfough's Store at Five Points last week were cited into Circleville Municipal Court Saturday following a lengthy investigation by the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department.

Appearing were James Manson, 25, and Ervin Himelrick, 22. Each was bound to the Pickaway County Grand Jury under $1,500 bond.

Himelrick pleaded guilty, but Manson denied any connection with the store entry. Deputy Charles Felkey filed the affidavits.

Deputy Felkey and Auxiliary Deputy Donald Rolfe handled the investigation after being called to scene of the burglary try last week.

FELKEY said evidence was found which led to Manson and Himelrick. They were picked up by Sgt. Harris of the Chillicothe Police Department and released to authorities here.

After extensive questioning, Himelrick admitted taking part in the entry, Felkey said. Manson said he was not involved.

Deputy Felkey said the store was entered through a rear window. He said the intruders also smashed through a glass storm door and that one of the men apparently suffered cuts by the flying glass.

According to Deputy Felkey, Manson currently is on probation out of Licking County in connection with a safe burglary. He said Himelrick has a record for bad checks.

Felkey said he and Deputy Rolfe received excellent cooperation from Chillicothe Police in their immediate efforts to take Manson and Himelrick into custody.

The accused men appeared before Attorney Harry Margulis who sat on the Municipal bench in the absence of Judge Sterling M. Lamb.

HUNTED — Frank Marrone, accused mastermind behind the kidnapping of wealthy sportsman Anthony Alessio, 41, has become the object of an international manhunt. Marrone, 31, is believed to be the man who plotted the abduction and the holder of $122,000 that still remains missing from the original $200,000 ransom money. Three persons, including Marrone's wife, were taken into custody by the FBI and $78,000 of the Alessio was recovered soon after Alessio was returned unharmed, Friday.

Conviction of 20 Thugs Is Reversed

NEW YORK (AP) — The U.S. Court of Appeals today reversed the conspiracy convictions of 20 men who attended the Apalachin N.Y., underworld convention on Nov. 14, 1957.

The court ordered the conspiracy count of the indictment dismissed for want of sufficient evidence to support the convictions.

The opinion was written by Judge J. Edward Lumbard and was concurred in by Judges Charles Clark and Henry J. Friendly.

Special Assembly Depends on GOP

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Minority Republicans went into the special session of the Ohio legislature with the fate of an unemployment benefit extender bill placed in their laps.

The special session, called by Gov. Michael V. DiSalle with the backing of the Democratic members of the General Assembly, convened at 11 a.m.

But at mid-afternoon, no legislative action on the unemployment measure was in sight. The House met briefly and recessed until 2 p.m. and the Senate until 4 p.m.

DiSalle called the special session to consider his proposal for temporary extension of maximum unemployment payments from 26 to 39 weeks, because, DiSalle contended, of the increasing number of Ohioans out of work.

Democrats have a majority in both houses, but Republican backing is needed if the special legislation is to get the required two-thirds vote for enactment. The proposal would permit unemployed workers who have exhausted regular benefits since last Jan. 1 to apply for a maximum of 13 weeks of additional benefits until March 31.

Republicans say the proposal could wait for consideration until the next regular session of the legislature convening Jan. 2 under GOP control. They have declined to promise the votes needed for emergency approval pending special session review of DiSalle's unemployment figures.

DiSalle claims his proposed extender is virtually the same as the one passing easily during a 1958 special session called by then Republican Gov. C. William O'Neill when the GOP controlled the General Assembly.

But, DiSalle said, unemployment in Ohio at that time was decreasing, while now it is increasing. And he added that increasing unemployment would put an added burden on local governments already hard-pressed to meet poor relief demands.

DiSalle has gone to some length to bolster his claim that unemployment had reached a point where it should be dealt with immediately to prevent serious consequences. He released his message for the special session and the extender proposal after sending copies to legislators in advance of the lame duck session.

DiSalle says Ohio unemployment now is substantially above the na-

Minuteman Missile Test Scheduled

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Within a few weeks a sleek Minuteman missile will stab skyward from this test center, signaling the start of a development program designed to give the United States a revolutionary weapons system bordering on the science-fiction concept of push-button war.

Once Minuteman is perfected, the Air Force plans the fastest missile buildup in U.S. history. The buildup, scheduled to start in mid-1962, will mark the beginning of an era when rockets rather than manned bombers will be the dominant force in the Strategic Air Command.

Present plans call for at least 600 Minutemen to be deployed by late 1964. About 450 of these will be spread across the Western United States in hardened underground silos built to withstand a near-miss by a nuclear bomb. The other 150 will roam the countryside on special railroad cars, making them elusive targets.

Defense planners are talking of eventually having 2,000 Minutemen.

Construction has been completed at Cape Canaveral on extensive facilities for the flight test program. The launch area includes two beehive-shaped blockhouses; two regular launch pads; two 90-foot deep silos, and assembly, storage, inspection and industrial buildings.

The initial launchings, slated to start in December, will be from land pads. Silo firings will begin in about six months, with railroad car shots scheduled here later in the program.

Unrest Runs Into 4th Day

3 Killed, 100 Hurt In Nation's Capital

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Rioting broke out anew in several places throughout this capital city today. Three persons have been killed and 100 wounded in three previous days of rioting.

Demonstrators clashed with police this morning along the Avenida Sucre which runs through Catia, a crowded workers' housing district in the western part of the city. This was the area where U.S. Vice President Richard M. Nixon was attacked during his visit to Caracas in 1958.

Police reported groups carrying bottled gasoline bombs were assembling at Plaza Carabobo on the eastern edge of the downtown business district.

The Cabinet of President Romulo Betancourt was forced into emergency session to deal with the political and economic unrest which sparked the rioting, carried on mainly by the militant left. National Guardsmen patrolled the city.

The outburst was attributed to Betancourt's left-wing opponents, some of them recently defected from his moderate Socialist coalition to attack him in anti-American tones similar to the line of Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Despite Betancourt's two-years in power trying to spread the wealth of this oil-rich country more evenly, there was widespread pessimism about the outlook in this new crisis.

High schools and normal schools were closed today for the second time in a month.

Betancourt asked Ramon J. Velasquez, secretary-general of the presidency and one of his closest advisers, to take over the education ministry in the absence of its chief, Rafael Pizani, who is in the United States for medical treatment.

The moderate government forces of Betancourt's Democratic Action party and the Christian Socialists now are opposed by the left-wing Democratic Republican Union (URD) which quit the government coalition 10 days ago, as well as Communists and the Movement of the Revolutionary Left, a Marxist offshoot of Betancourt's party.

Betancourt called on troops to quell last month's riots, and this was one reason the URD quit the coalition. Its leaders called the move "repression."

Elsewhere in the Caribbean, unrest was spotted in Haiti and Colombia.

In Haiti, now in its sixth day of martial law after a student strike against President Francois Duvalier's government, the president shook up the army general staff and the administrative council of the National Bank.

Last week Duvalier expelled the Roman Catholic archbishop of Haiti and accused him of supporting a student strike the government claimed was backed by Communists.

In Colombia, 30,000 bank workers called a strike for "social liberation." The bank workers have struck twice before this year. This time the union is demanding that the banks withdraw a Supreme Court appeal against an arbitration award that favored the workers. The strike was denounced by President Alberto Lleras Camargo, and troops were stationed around the bank.

Kennedy Plans Announcement

'Hard News' Statement Slated Later Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect John F. Kennedy, reporting progress on shaping his new administration, keeps digging today at the job of filling high level positions and charting a policy course.

Pierre Salinger, promised what he called a "hard news" announcement during the day but would provide no clue as to the nature of it.

Salinger did indicate the announcement would be something other than the president-elect's choice of a budget director, expected to be disclosed this week.

The press secretary repeated that while Kennedy is consulting daily with advisers regarding the picking of the first selection probably won't come before next week.

In between visits to the hospital to see his wife and newborn son, the president-elect had a busy weekend preparing to take over direction of the government Jan. 20.

He had a dinner conference at his Georgetown home Sunday night with Vice President-elect Lyndon B. Johnson. Kennedy reported afterward that he has been making progress planning the new Democratic regime, and added that Johnson is in agreement on developments to date.

Johnson, accompanied to dinner by his wife and two daughters, had just returned from a North Atlantic Treaty Organization meeting in Paris. He was chairman of the U. S. delegation. He also conferred with French President Charles de Gaulle and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

The president-elect also conferred briefly with his brother Robert Kennedy who served as his campaign manager. Just back from a vacation in Mexico, Robert had his first meeting with the president-to-be since Nov. 11.

Michigan To Set Road Bid Record

DETROIT (AP)—Michigan already the nation's top road building state, will set a new national record Dec. 7 when it opens bids on projects totaling an estimated $45 million.

Ohio had a record $43,102,231 bid-letting session Dec. 15, 1959, and plans an opening Tuesday which will involve projects with a value of up to $31.9 million.

"It will be the largest contract letting ever held by a state highway department anywhere in the United States," said Michigan Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie, in remarks prepared for today's opening of the 46th annual meeting of the American Association of State Highway Officials.

Some Cubans Expect Castro Ouster, but Not by Force

By HAROLD K. MILKS
SANTIAGO, Cuba (AP) — Fidel Castro's Cuba is filled with disillusionment and dread. Yet the prospect of an armed overthrow of his Communist-oriented regime today appears more distant than ever.

This is indicated in a quick tour of four of this island's five provinces.

Many Cubans, both big and little, predict a relatively early end to Castro's revolutionary government. But most agree the end will come through economic collapse, rather than by an invasion or an uprising from within.

Cubans talk openly and privately against his rule, from Havana eastward to Santiago, Cuba's second largest city and capital of Oriente province, where the Castro revolution was born.

Most complaints are based on two factors — economic hardship and communism.

In Santiago, a longshoreman whose union had just been told by the government that workers no longer will receive overtime pay, told this correspondent:

"We have been asked to pull in our belts, to work more and eat less. We can do that, but I won't work for the communists and my companions won't either. A businessman who has lived in Santiago all his life and now (Continued on Page 2)

Special Assembly Depends on GOP

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Minority Republicans went into the special session of the Ohio legislature with the fate of an unemployment benefit extender bill placed in their laps.

The special session, called by Gov. Michael V. DiSalle with the backing of the Democratic members of the General Assembly, convened at 11 a.m.

But at mid-afternoon, no legislative action on the unemployment measure was not in sight. The House met briefly and recessed until 2 p.m. and the Senate until 4 p.m.

DiSalle called the special session to consider his proposal for temporary extension of maximum unemployment payments from 26 to 39 weeks, because, DiSalle contended, of the increasing number of Ohioans out of work.

Democrats have a majority in both houses, but Republican backing is needed if the special legislation is to get the required two-thirds vote for enactment. The proposal would permit unemployed workers who have exhausted regular benefits since last Jan. 1 to apply for a maximum of 13 weeks of additional benefits until March 31.

Republicans say the proposal could wait for consideration until the next regular session of the legislature convening Jan. 2 under GOP control. They have declined to promise the votes needed for emergency approval pending special session review of DiSalle's unemployment figures.

DiSalle claims his proposed extender is virtually the same as the one passing easily during a 1958 special session called by then Republican Gov. C. William O'Neill when the GOP controlled the General Assembly.

But, DiSalle said, unemployment in Ohio at that time was decreasing, while now it is increasing. And he added that increasing unemployment would put an added burden on local governments already hard-pressed to meet poor relief demands.

DiSalle has gone to some length to bolster his claim that unemployment had reached a point where it should be dealt with immediately to prevent serious consequences. He released his message for the special session and the extender proposal after sending copies to legislators in advance of the lame duck session.

DiSalle says Ohio unemployment now is substantially above the national average of 4.4 per cent of those covered by the unemployment compensation law.

Pointing out that many of those exhausting their regular jobless benefits would move onto local poor relief rolls, DiSalle's special session message said:

"I feel it would be unconscionable to transfer this burden to the general taxpayer when by law we have established a fund to alleviate the problems of unemployment within the state."

The governor referred to a fund created by employer assessments to pay jobless benefits. That fund exceeded $395 million at the end of 1959 but DiSalle estimated it would be less than $320 million at the end of this year. Cost of the proposed extender will be about $26 million, he figured.

Holiday Traffic Toll Is High

Ohio Ranks Among Top 6 States

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
At least 21 persons died in Ohio traffic accidents over the 102-hour Thanksgiving holiday period, from 6 p.m. Wednesday through midnight Sunday.

The fifth largest state in the nation, population-wise, ranked among the top six states in number of traffic fatalities.

California led the nation with at least 50 traffic deaths. The over-all totals have climbed to 436 in traffic, 52 in fires, and 109 miscellaneous for a grand total of 597.

Although the Ohio toll was not something to be thankful for, it did show that the state's motorists could drive more safely over a holiday than during a similar period of time two weeks ago with no holiday involved.

For purpose of comparison, The Associated Press tabulated highway deaths in Ohio from 6 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 9, through Sunday, Nov. 13, and counted 26 fatalities.

Only one multiple fatality traffic accident was recorded in the state during the holiday period. Two boys died when their motor scooter was hit by a car in Morrow County.

In addition to the traffic slaughter, two small children perished in a fire that destroyed their Monroe County home, and three persons were killed in miscellaneous accidents.

The AP tabulation does not include holiday period deaths resulting from accidents prior to the start of the period. Nor does it include deaths that occur after the period ends, even if they result from accidents during the holiday.

The latest fatalities included: Saturday

Unrest Runs Into 4th Day

3 Killed, 100 Hurt In Nation's Capital

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Rioting broke out anew in several places throughout this capital city today. Three persons have been killed and 100 wounded in three previous days of rioting.

Demonstrators clashed with police this morning along the Avenida Sucre which runs through Catia, a crowded workers' housing district in the western part of the city. This was the area where U.S. Vice President Richard M. Nixon was attacked during his visit to Caracas in 1958.

Police reported groups carrying bottled gasoline bombs were assembling at Plaza Carabobo on the eastern edge of the downtown business district.

The Cabinet of President Romulo Betancourt was forced into emergency session to deal with the political and economic unrest which sparked the rioting, carried on mainly by the militant left. National Guardsmen patrolled the city.

The outburst was attributed to Betancourt's left-wing opponents, some of them recently defected from his moderate Socialist coalition to attack him in anti-American tones similar to the line of Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Despite Betancourt's two-years in power trying to spread the wealth of this oil-rich country more evenly, there was widespread pessimism about the outlook in this new crisis.

High schools and normal schools were closed today for the second time in a month.

Betancourt asked Ramon J. Velasquez, secretary-general of the presidency and one of his closest advisers, to take over the education ministry in the absence of its chief, Rafael Pizani, who is in the United States for medical treatment.

The moderate government forces of Betancourt's Democratic Action party and the Christian Socialists now are opposed by the left-wing Democratic Republican Union (URD) which quit the government coalition 10 days ago, as well as Communists and the Movement of the Revolutionary Left, a Marxist offshoot of Betancourt's party.

Betancourt called on troops to quell last month's riots, and this was one reason the URD quit the coalition. Its leaders called the move "repression."

Elsewhere in the Caribbean, unrest was spotted in Haiti and Colombia.

In Haiti, now in its sixth day of martial law after a student strike against President Francois Duvalier's government, the president shook up the army general staff and the administrative council of the National Bank.

Last week Duvalier expelled the Roman Catholic archbishop of Haiti and accused him of supporting a student strike the government claimed was backed by Communists.

In Colombia, 30,000 bank workers called a strike for "social liberation." The bank workers have struck twice before this year. This time the union is demanding that the banks withdraw a Supreme Court appeal against an arbitration award that favored the workers. The strike was denounced by President Alberto Lleras Camargo, and troops were stationed around the bank.

watches militiamen giving orders in the establishment he built, declared:

"You could expect people of my class to oppose Castro and his regime even though I and many like me helped it grow. But here in Santiago it is the little people who are feeling the pressure as much or more than we are."

"I give Castro six months more. Then not even his Communist-armed militia and his army of informants can control a hungry people."

A sugar man, who looked back over his shoulder before he spoke, predicted that not even an excellent growing season would save Castro from trouble when the sugar harvest begins in December.

"There is the problem of when to sell sugar once it is harvested and milled, he said. "But an even bigger problem is getting the harvest in. And I don't think Castro appointees can do it."

Only a few hundred desperate men are carrying on the counter-revolutionary struggle in the Sierra Maestra the mountains where Castro launched his revolution. Yet when Castro visited Santiago recently to address the newly armed peoples militia, he never left the heavily guarded airport. Castro's foes in Santiago feared he was afraid to enter this city that once lent his movement powerful support.

Businessmen, farmers and workers alike appear resigned to waiting until such time as an avalanche of hungry people is ready to come crashing down on the Castro regime.

"It will be slow, but it will come, said a Santiago worker. "We can wait until more people are hungry."

And a gray-haired farmer whispered: "Fidel is a commandante (major) but hunger is a colonel and outranks him."

Pennsy Trainmen Hunt in Comfort

Talk about hunting in comfort. . . Pennsylvania Railroad freight crews have the answer.

The slow-moving trains which run between Wilmington and Circleville provide perfect vantage points for trainmen armed with shotguns. As non-railroading hunters on foot work their way through the fields, they flush birds and rabbits which head for the tracks.

It's a bit rough on the engineer who can't take time out while the train is moving, but he keeps an eye on the boys who can, and he stops when necessary so they can retrieve game.

In good weather the Pennsy tries to carry an empty gondola car in each of its two daily freights for the convenience of its sports-minded employees.

James D. Roberts was fined $15 and costs for failure to display a hunting license.

The charges were filed by Fred A. Schob, a game protector working in this area.

watches militiamen giving orders in the establishment he built, declared:

"You could expect people of my class to oppose Castro and his regime even though I and many like me helped it grow. But here in Santiago it is the little people who are feeling the pressure as much or more than we are.

"I give Castro six months more. Then not even his Communist-armed militia and his army of informants can control a hungry people.

A sugar man, who looked back over his shoulder before he spoke, predicted that not even an excellent growing season would save Castro from trouble when the sugar harvest begins in December.

"There is the problem of when to sell sugar once it is harvested and milled, he said. "But an even bigger problem is getting the harvest in. And I don't think Castro appointees can do it.

Only a few hundred desperate men are carrying on the counter-revolutionary struggle in the Sierra Maestra the mountains where Castro launched his revolution. Yet when Castro visited Santiago recently to address the newly armed peoples militia, he never left the heavily guarded airport. Castro's foes in Santiago feared he was afraid to enter this city that once lent his movement powerful support.

Businessmen, farmers and workers alike appear resigned to waiting until such time as an avalanche of hungry people is ready to come crashing down on the Castro regime.

"It will be slow, but it will come, said a Santiago worker. "We can wait until more people are hungry.

And a gray-haired farmer whispered: "Fidel is a commandante (major) but hunger is a colonel and outranks him.

Pennsy Trainmen Hunt in Comfort

Talk about hunting in comfort. Pennsylvania Railroad freight crews have the answer.

The slow-moving trains which run between Wilmington and Circleville provide perfect vantage points for trainmen armed with shotguns. As non-railroading hunters on foot work their way through the fields, they flush birds and rabbits which head for the tracks.

It's a bit rough on the engineer who can't take time out while the train is moving, but he keeps an eye on the boys who can, and he stops when necessary so they can retrieve game.

In good weather the Pennsy tries to carry an empty gondola car in each of its two daily freights for the convenience of its sports-minded employees.

Christmas Buying Season Is Off to Colorful Start

NEW YORK (AP)—The Christmas buying season got off to a colorful start this week amid high hopes by merchants that the dollars spent will add up to a new record.

The National Retail Merchants Association predicted that dollar volume will run two per cent ahead of the all-time high 1959 total.

Although there are spotty segments in the economy which have brought on high unemployment, the outlook appears better than last year, when the steel strike threw hundreds of thousands out of work.

The Christmas season, as always, will tell the story of what kind of a year 1960 is for the retailing industry. The storekeepers expect the period between now and Dec. 25 to account for 17 to 20 per cent of the year's sales.

The week before Thanksgiving Day wasn't a very good one for the stores. Dollar volume was unchanged to four per cent below the corresponding week a year ago. Merchants blamed unusually warm weather for holding back early Christmas buying.

The consumer suffered a blow where it hurts—in the pocketbook. Living costs rose to a new high in October. The government's price index advanced four-tenths of one per cent to 127.3 per cent of the 1947-49 average.

The increase was the largest since last April. Nearly half of it was due to higher food prices.

And food prices are still going up. Wholesale food costs, as measured by the Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., index, rose to a new 1960 high this week for the third consecutive week.

The Thanksgiving holiday put a crimp in business activity, particularly in the steel and automobile industries, where some plants closed down for the entire weekend.

Steel output declined to 47.5 per cent of capacity from 51.6 per cent the previous week. The trade publication, Iron Age, predicted that steel operations probably will drop next month to the year's lowest level.

The automobile industry made its six-millionth car of the year as it turned out an estimated 116,000 passenger units this week. The previous week's total was 148,866. Production this year is expected to total about 6.5 million.

Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. had good news for motorists, announcing a cut of $1 to $4 in the prices of passenger car tires.

The Commerce Department reported that the factory output of manufacturing firms has not shown a pickup of seasonal proportions so far this fall. It added that there is no indication of a change in the flow of new orders.

Shipments of major appliances in October dropped to the lowest level of the year. Even with the Christmas season at hand, manufacturers weren't optimistic about the chances of a major pickup.

New orders for machine tools in October declined for the second month in a row. The total of $35.55 million compared with $42.15 million in September and $43.6 million in October 1959.

In its first business forecast for 1961, the government indicated it expected the economy to remain at about the levels of this year—described by many as a high plateau.

Sales on the New York Stock Exchange this week totaled 12.

709,925 shares compared with last week's 13,968,844. Bond sales on the exchange came to $21,545,000, par value, this week against the previous week's $24,710,700.

Briefly around the business scene: The Central Federal Savings and Loan Association of Long Beach N.Y., is paying kids one cent each for Kennedy and Nixon buttons if they open an account; limit is $2 for 200 buttons ... International Harvester Co. is entering the compact car field with an "all-purpose" vehicle called "Scout" ... New Jersey is photographing and fingerprinting 15,000 securities salesmen under a new law ... Railroads received increases estimated at $34.8 million yearly for carrying mail ... The 1,662,945 holders of Christmas Club accounts in savings banks will have $165 million to spend.

Kennedy Baby Marks Fifth Big Name Infant This Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—The birth of a son Friday to President-elect and Mrs. John F. Kennedy caps a banner year for the arrivals of news-making male babies in five capitals of the world.

Princes were born in England, Japan, Belgium and Iran in 1960.

Kennedy had talked like he was counting on a son. Last September he told campaign crowds "my wife is at home having a baby, a boy, in November."

But to the Shah of Iran, who was expecting a family addition earlier this year, the question of whether the baby would be a boy or a girl was of vital importance. Iran had been waiting since the shah's first marriage in 1941 for a royal son to carry on the monarchy.

The shah finally got a male heir on Oct. 31—after three marriages. His second wife, Soraya, was beautiful and devoted. But after eight years of marriage, he reluctantly divorced her because they had no male heir. The same consideration figured in his earlier divorce.

Queen Elizabeth II of England and Princess Michiko of Japan delighted subjects with baby princes. They arrived less than a week apart.

Prince Andrew was the first child born to a ruling British monarch since Queen Victoria's reign. He replaced his 9-year-old sister Anne as second in line to the crown. Their brother, Prince Charles, is heir apparent. But second sons have become king of England twice in this century.

Four days later in Tokyo, rising sun flags waved over crowds shouting "banzai!" (May you live 1,000 years) as jubilant Japanese celebrated the birth of Emperor Hirohito's first titled grandson. Only males may ascend the chrysanthemum throne.

Crown Prince Akihito, observing ancient rites, didn't go to the hospital until after his son was born. He arrived there after pageantry in which the 54-pound Prince Hiro was given a warrior's sword as a symbol of his duty to defend the state.

Another 1960 prince was born in Brussels April 15 to old Princess Paola, 22, and Prince Albert of Liege. The Belgian princeling, Philippe Leopold Louis Marie is second in line to succeed King Baudouin.

Fire Marshal Plans College Inspections

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—State Fire Marshal Wilson M. McLaughlin said today his investigators plan to inspect every Ohio college campus to determine if fire hazards exist in any of the buildings. He hopes to begin the project by April 1.

The inspection is prompted by the Nov. 13 fire that destroyed Weston Hall, the major classroom building at Defiance College, he said. The blaze in the 52-year-old building was touched off by faulty electric wiring, McLaughlin said he was informed.

Crossfield climbs out.

SHE'LL BETTER 4,000 MPH, says test pilot Scott Crossfield of the rocket plane X-15, shown gliding to a landing at Edwards AFB, Calif., after a test with its new 57,000-pound thrust engine. He estimated the probable top speed by the response at around 2,000 mph with the power only half on and the "brakes"—large flaps—extended. He also thinks the X-15 can attain 100 miles altitude. The old engine packed 16,000 pounds thrust.

Christmas Buying Season Is Off to Colorful Start

NEW YORK (AP)—The Christmas buying season got off to a colorful start this week amid high hopes by merchants that the dollars spent will add up to a new record.

The National Retail Merchants Association predicted that dollar volume will run two per cent ahead of the all-time high 1959 total.

Although there are spotty segments in the economy which have brought on high unemployment, the outlook appears better than last year, when the steel strike threw hundreds of thousands out of work.

The Christmas season, as always, will tell the story of what kind of a year 1960 is for the retailing industry. The storekeepers expect the period between now and Dec. 25 to account for 17 to 20 per cent of the year's sales.

The week before Thanksgiving Day wasn't a very good one for the stores. Dollar volume was unchanged to four per cent below the corresponding week a year ago. Merchants blamed unusually warm weather for holding back early Christmas buying.

The consumer suffered a blow where it hurts—in the pocketbook. Living costs rose to a new high in October. The government's price index advanced four-tenths of one per cent to 127.3 per cent of the 1947-49 average.

The increase was the largest since last April. Nearly half of it was due to higher food prices.

And food prices are still going up. Wholesale food costs, as measured by the Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., index, rose to a new 1960 high this week for the third consecutive week.

The Thanksgiving holiday put a crimp in business activity, particularly in the steel and automobile industries, where some plants closed down for the entire weekend.

Steel output declined to 47.5 per cent of capacity from 51.6 per cent the previous week. The trade publication, Iron Age, predicted that steel operations probably will drop next month to the year's lowest level.

The automobile industry made its six-millionth car of the year as it turned out an estimated 116,000 passenger units this week. The previous week's total was 148,866. Production this year is expected to total about 6.5 million.

Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. had good news for motorists, announcing a cut of $1 to $4 in the prices of passenger car tires.

The Commerce Department reported that the factory output of manufacturing firms has not shown a pickup of seasonal proportions so far this fall. It added that there is no indication of a change in the flow of new orders. Shipments of major appliances in October dropped to the lowest level of the year. Even with the Christmas season at hand, manufacturers weren't optimistic about the chances of a major pickup.

New orders for machine tools in October declined for the second month in a row. The total of $35.55 million compared with $42.15 million in September and $43.6 million in October 1959.

In its first business forecast for 1961, the government indicated it expected the economy to remain at about the levels of this year—described by many as a high plateau.

Sales on the New York Stock Exchange this week totaled 12.

709,925 shares compared with last week's 13,968,844. Bond sales on the exchange came to $21,545,000, par value, this week against the previous week's $24,710,700.

Briefly a round the business scene: The Central Federal Savings and Loan Association of Long Beach N.Y., is paying kids one cent each for Kennedy and Nixon buttons if they open an account; limit is $2 for 200 buttons. International Harvester Co. is entering the compact car field with an "all-purpose" vehicle called "Scout."... New Jersey is photographing and fingerprinting 15,000 securities salesmen under a new law... Railroads received increases estimated at $34.8 million yearly for carrying mail... The 1,662,945 holders of Christmas Club accounts in savings banks will have $165 million to spend.

Kennedy Baby Marks Fifth Big Name Infant This Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—The birth of a son Friday to President-elect and Mrs. John F. Kennedy caps a banner year for the arrivals of news-making male babies in five capitals of the world.

Princes were born in England, Japan, Belgium and Iran in 1960.

Kennedy had talked like he was counting on a son. Last September he told campaign crowds "my wife is at home having a baby, a boy, in November."

But to the Shah of Iran, who was expecting a family addition earlier this year, the question of whether the baby would be a boy or a girl was of vital importance. Iran had been waiting since the Shah's first marriage in 1941 for a royal son to carry on the monarchy.

The Shah finally got a male heir on Oct. 31—after three marriages. His second wife, Soraya, was beautiful and devoted. But after eight years of marriage, he reluctantly divorced her because they had no male heir. The same consideration figured in his earlier divorce.

Queen Elizabeth II of England and Princess Michiko of Japan delighted subjects with baby princesses. They arrived less than a week apart.

Prince Andrew was the first child born to a ruling British monarch since Queen Victoria's reign. He replaced his 9-year-old sister Anne as second in line to the crown. Their brother, Prince Charles, is heir apparent. But second sons have become king of England twice in this century.

Four days later in Tokyo, rising sun flags waved over crowds shouting "banzai!" (May you live 1,000 years) as jubilant Japanese celebrated the birth of Emperor Hirohito's first titled grandson. Only males may ascend the chrysanthemum throne.

Crown Prince Akihito, observing ancient rites, didn't go to the hospital until after his son was born. He arrived there after pageantry in which the 54-pound Prince Hiro was given a warrior's sword as a symbol of his duty to defend the state.

Another 1960 prince was born in Brussels April 15 to old Princess Paola, 22, and Prince Albert of Liege. The Belgian princeling, Philippe Leopold Louis Marie is second in line to succeed King Baudouin.

Fire Marshal Plans College Inspections

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—State Fire Marshal Wilson M. McLaughlin said today his investigators plan to inspect every Ohio college campus to determine if fire hazards exist in any of the buildings. He hopes to begin the project by April 1.

The inspection is prompted by the Nov. 13 fire that destroyed Weston Hall, the major classroom building at Defiance College, he said. The blaze in the 52-year-old building was touched off by faulty electric wiring, McLaughlin said he was informed.

Crossfield climbs out.

SHE'LL BETTER 4,000 MPH, says test pilot Scott Crossfield of the rocket plane X-15, shown gliding to a landing at Edwards AFB, Calif., after a test with its new 57,000-pound thrust engine. He estimated the probable top speed by the response at around 2,000 mph with the power only half on and the "brakes"—large flaps—extended. He also thinks the X-15 can attain 100 miles altitude. The old engine packed 16,000 pounds thrust.

'Dandy' May Stage a Comeback

Perhaps the age of rude manners and ungentlemanly conduct has reached its farthest arc and is now about to begin the backward swing of the pendulum to the proximity of chivalry, if the latest innovation in British male society is an omen. Charm schools — for men — are making an avowed attempt to return British gentlemen to the perfection of the "dandy" and with a considerable degree of acceptance.

Charm and fashion classes for the ladies are nothing new, but to extend the same facilities to men brings an uneasiness of mind not quickly discarded. Granted that the harried male has largely accepted suffrage as a two-way street, and that simple courtesies like opening car doors for ladies and offering to hang up their wraps are too frequently overlooked, but charm schools for men!

What does a male student do in a British charm school? Pretty much what his female counterpart does. He learns to walk with somewhat more grace than a floundering hippopotamus, he is surprised to discover red neckties do not match orange stockings, his quaint dialects or clipped pronunciations are replaced by polished speaking manners, and every stitch of his clothing seems to radiate an energetic striving for perfection.

Finally, from under the wings of experienced charmers who have spent weeks molding the character, appearance, scent and sound of a man who entered their tutelage with little more social grace than the knowledge that one does not eat peas with man who converses with equal spontaneity a knife, emerges a well-poised gentleman and easie with his employer or a panhandler.

In short, a dandy. No surveys have yet been made of British ladies to ascertain their reaction to this innovation, although one is supposed to presume they enjoy it immensely. It must be a harrowing experience, nevertheless, to adjust one's focus on the man of the house from the image of a pot-bellied sloth reclining in his easy chair with feet propped on the coffee table, aimlessly flicking cigar ashes in a variety of directions, to the perfection of a gentlemanly gentleman's gentleman.

Psychiatric clinics, female charm schools, marriage counselors and crystal ball consultants are not a few personal service specialists expected to thrive on the results of such a shock.

Blind Prejudice Is Decried

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—A sightless young educator here believes one of America's blindest prejudices is its prejudice against the blind.

"It is prejudice—there is no other word for it," said Dr. Herbert M. Greenberg, 31, assistant professor of sociology at Long Island University.

"The blind are the most discriminated against minority in the United States."

Dr. Greenberg, who lost his own sight at 10 after a mastoid operation, objects to the isolation of the blind in special schools and institutions and the reluctance of many employers to hire blind people for other than menial tasks.

"Three-quarters of all blind children are in segregated schools," he pointed out. "But they don't want to be isolated in this way. It gives them a psychology of defeat."

"You can't spend 18 years in a school for the blind and then come out and adjust to a world of the sighted."

"So many end up going from schools for the blind to workshops for the blind, where they tend to spend the rest of their lives weaving baskets or making mats.

"It is a tragic waste of human skills, a waste we can't afford. This prejudice hurts not only the blind—it hurts society by robbing it of talent which is available, and needed."

Dr. Greenberg, a rugged, athletic man of 31 with a boyish crew cut, is living proof of his contention that a blind student can compete on equal terms in classes with children who can see.

He was a Phi Beta Kappa college graduate at 20. He attended graduate school while working as a consultant on rehabilitation for the city department of welfare here—and took his doctorate degree with honors at 24.

Aided only by a slender aluminum cane, Dr. Greenberg daily travels alone by train and subway the 70-mile round trip between his home near New Brunswick, N. J., and the Brooklyn campus where he teaches. He sees nothing unusual about this.

"If you really need help, you can always ask for it and get it," he said crisply.

Popular with his students, Dr. Greenberg found carrying a full teaching load wasn't enough for a man with his energy and dreams.

So he pursues two other careers. He maintains a private practice in psychotherapy and acts as research director for a Manhattan marketing firm.

"This doesn't leave me much time with my wife and two sons," he said, smiling.

Nevertheless, he does find time to participate in local politics and pursue his hobbies—swimming, bowling, bridge and chess.

Dr. Greenberg is robustly critical of what he regards as false pity for the blind.

"Losing your sight is not as bad as the feeling you get later when people slam doors in your face when all you ask is—not a favor—but merely a chance to prove your ability. That really hurts."

"The funny thing about prejudice is this: Once you get the job, the prejudice melts away. You are treated as an equal."

Danger to the Dollar

By George Sokolsky

This is by no means hindsight. I can point to a long series of articles going back many years to the danger of our dollar and to our gold. I can show the publications of Franz Pick, one of the world's great authorities on currency, cautioning about the dangers to the dollar. He was recognized by some as a prophet, but government officials treated him as though he were a madman.

What was most astonishing in the years since 1948 is that American bankers, who are supposed to be experts in money and currency, ridiculed those who warned that when currency flows out faster than it comes in, there must be one of two results: 1. That the amount of currency backed by gold will be lessened; or 2. That the government will resort to the printing press which must ultimately mean a devaluation.

I once argued this point with a banker who insisted on talking of balances of payments, which has little to do with the problem, and ridiculed the fact that foreign aid and the support of American troops abroad were the crux of the problem. The latter are day by day housekeeping and maintenance expenditures. Bankers can become very pompous when they talk about money, which after all is in the realm of the student of currency.

Now, at this very late date, when the mare has been stolen, along comes Secretary of the Treasury Anderson with a statement that should have been made at least four years ago in which he says:

"The United States following World War II initiated and continued, through the Marshall Plan and other programs, an unprecedented series of moves calculated to help rebuild the war-devastated nations of Europe and Asia. "During the years of rebuilding, the United States, through various means, placed dollars in the hands of these other nations so that they might be able, in the processes of their rebuilding, to buy the services and goods which, in the period immediately after the war, only the United States could provide."

At that point the Europeans call attention to the fact that most of the Marshall Plan money was spent in the United States, benefitting our economy by keeping our labor employed. The sharp depression which economists expected around 1948 did not occur in this country. However, the vast amounts expended in various forms of military aid, economic aid, currency stabilization, price protection (coffee, for instance), maintenance of American troops, air bases, etc., etc., by 1957 showed in deficits. The Secretary of the Treasury states this matter with official formality as follows:

"The United States has also bolstered the military security of friendly nations so as to contribute to our mutual security and to deter threats of external aggression. The programs through which these aims are carried out have likewise resulted in providing a flow of dollars abroad, largely as a result of the maintenance of our forces in foreign countries."

"At the same time the United States has undertaken substantial efforts in aiding the economic progress of the developing countries, in an effort to create the economic conditions for lasting peace throughout the world. To the extent that these programs do not increase exports of United States goods and services, they too lead to an outflow of dollars to the competing nations in Europe and Japan."

Put it as you like, we lost our reserves. We now practically have no gold reserve that is not earmarked. It is best to state the facts officially:

"As a result of the above and other factors the United States has been facing continuous deficits in its balance of payments. In the last three years a total of about $10 billion more has been paid out than has been received. The resulting deficits are settled by sizeable outflows of gold and increases in our dollar liabilities. A substantial part of our deficit has been settled in gold, resulting in a decline of about $4½ billion in the Treasury gold stock since the end of 1957."

In a word, with ear-marked gold at about $18,000,000,000, we have lost enough gold to face a serious crisis. Fortunately, the entire Western world has its currency related to the American dollar and must defend it until such a time as the pound sterling can take the position of the dollar in world exchange, unless the United States can restore its gold reserve.

East Liverpool Skeleton Said 3,500 Years Old

EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio (AP)—The complete skeleton of a young adult, believed buried 3,500 to 7,000 years, was found under strips of bark six miles east of here Sunday by an archeological group.

Since November 1959 the Pennsylvania Archeological Society's Beaver Valley chapter has been digging in the Ohio View area of Industry, Pa. The stratified ground of the area preserves skeletal remains well and in earlier excavations the bones of a male adult, a young male and a female infant were found. All of the remains are sent to the Carnegie Museum at Pittsburgh for further study.

She Ripped Off Cop's Pants, Gets Sentence

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Because her car ripped off the seat of a policeman's pants, Gloria Pereira, 33, must serve five days in jail and she must buy him a new pair of pants.

Policeman Edward Neville, 35, says he was standing by a car giving a motorist directions last Aug. 30 when Mrs. Pereira's sports car whizzed by and its door caught the seat of his trousers.

A jury convicted her Nov. 1 of drunken and hit-and-run driving. Friday a judge decreed her punishment, including a $250 fine.

Ironton Radio Listener Irked by Soviet Station

IRONTON, Ohio (AP)—"I'm going to write Radio Moscow and ask them what they are talking about," says David F. Thomas of nearby Proctorville. The Russian radio station last Friday said it was broadcasting information on Soviet progress in making a radio map of the sun because Thomas had asked for it.

Thomas, a 51-year-old amateur radio monitor, said he did not make the request. But he supposed it had something to do with his hearing the radio signal of the first Russian spunk and his correspondence with Soviet astronomers dating back to 1931. Radio Moscow notified him of the broadcast in advance, but he says he missed it and now "I'm in the dark."

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

EARLY IN Robert Taylor's motion picture career, the budding star decided he was being underpaid and sought a raise from the Great Mogul of the MGM studio, the late Louis B. Mayer, who could weep a bucket of tears at will. He sat Taylor down and told him, "Bob, I have two lovely daughters but no son. If I DID have a son—and I would have liked him to be as handsome, brilliant, and talented as you—I would have told him, 'Son, you are now working for a great studio that one day will make you a great, great star. Don't make the mistake, my son, of demanding a raise now.'"

Taylor was in something of a daze when he found himself back in the anteroom. "Well," demanded his agent, "did you get a raise?" "No," admitted Taylor, "but I got a father."

The World Today

By James Marlow

By FRANK CORMIER
(For James Marlow)
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — When President Eisenhower revised military and foreign aid policies in a move to stem the gold drain, some predicted that his work would be undone next year by President-elect John F. Kennedy.

Don't count on this. As a matter of fact, circumstances might force Kennedy to invoke even sterner measures.

The president-elect is not committed to the Eisenhower action. A Kennedy representative was informed in advance about the administration's plans, but no expression of agreement was sought or given.

Still, Kennedy will not have an entirely free hand in fashioning his own foreign aid and military policies. He must operate in the world as he finds it on inauguration day—a world in which the United States is steadily losing gold because it spends more money abroad than it receives.

During the election campaign, Kennedy accused the present administration of failure to take prompt and vigorous action to reverse this trend. How will he redeem his own pledge to do better?

In one campaign statement, Kennedy promised action on two fronts:

1. "We will begin immediate and vigorous negotiations to remove artificial barriers to the flow of American goods overseas, as well as restriction on the flow of more capital to this country."

2. "We will ask our allies to share the increasing burden of building the military and economic strength of the free world."

There is nothing new about either approach. The Eisenhower administration has been active in both areas.

However, Kennedy's lack of mention of other possibilities during the campaign can't be taken as a rejection of additional approaches.

While the president-elect has yet to elaborate on his position, some of his advisers have indicated they believe his campaign statement doesn't cover all the steps that will be necessary. One of these, Prof. John Kenneth Galbraith of the economics faculty at Harvard, discussed the gold-dollar problem in a speech a few hours before Eisenhower's new moves were announced on Nov. 16.

Galbraith said many aspects of federal policy must be reviewed in the light of the nation's international financial difficulties. He mentioned some of the very areas in which Eisenhower acted later the same day.

For example, Galbraith said the gold-dollar problem will have an impact in the deployment of troops overseas. He also suggested that a dollar saving program might affect post exchanges and commissaries abroad.

As for helping other nations, Galbraith said there is no reason to "consider economic aid in its present form to be wholly sacrosanct."

The professor said "difficult thought" in the broad area of overseas spending may have been postponed too long.

"Perhaps we will get no adequate action until we have an adequately dramatic portrayal of disaster," he concluded. "Perhaps we can act only out of a sense of despair. We may hope that this is not the case."

In many respects, Eisenhower has chosen the least painful ways in which to deal with the gold problem.

If the problem is indeed serious, and economists of both parties agree that it is, president-elect Kennedy isn't likely to find any less painful solution.

Ohio Non-Farm Employment Shows Decline, State Says

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An October survey of the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation, released today, shows the state non-agricultural employment slipped five-tenths of one per cent from September, to an October total of 3,113,000.

The loss took place in manufacturing, with widespread yet moderate layoffs, including release of temporary cannery workers, the report said.

Non-manufacturing employment was stable as scattered seasonal declines balanced hiring in schools and colleges.

Average weekly earnings of factory production workers amounted to $104.01 in October for a 39.1 hour work week. September averages were $104.22 and 40 hours.

The survey showed manufacturing workers numbered 1,225,900 in October, down 1.4 per cent from September. Every major industry, except transportation equipment and printing, decreased. Heaviest layoffs in durable goods were reported by producers of steel and non-electrical machinery.

A sizeable number of employees engaged in the manufacture of electrical equipment were idled by a labor-management dispute. Most of the loss in non-durable goods resulted from the cutback of temporary workers hired by canning companies for the late summer vegetable pack.

BUC surveyors said employment in non-manufacturing establishments — 1,888,000 in October — held steady from the previous month.

In non-agricultural employment, the average weekly earnings in October were up $2 compared with October 1959, although the work-week decreased nine-tenths of an hour.

'Dandy' May Stage a Comeback

Perhaps the age of rude manners and ungentlemanly conduct has reached its farthest arc and is now about to begin the backward swing of the pendulum to the proximity of chivalry, if the latest innovation in British male society is an omen. Charm schools — for men — are making an avowed attempt to return British gentlemen to the perfection of the "dandy" and with a considerable degree of acceptance.

Charm and fashion classes for the ladies are nothing new, but to extend the same facilities to men brings an uneasiness of mind not quickly discarded. Granted that the harried male has largely accepted suffrage as a two-way street, and that simple courtesies like opening car doors for ladies and offering to hang up their wraps are too frequently overlooked, but charm schools for men!

What does a male student do in a British charm school? Pretty much what his female counterpart does. He learns to walk with somewhat more grace than a floundering hippopotamus, he is surprised to discover red neckties do not match orange stockings, his quaint dialects or clipped pronunciations are replaced by polished speaking manners, and every stitch of his clothing seems to radiate an energetic striving for perfection.

Finally, from under the wings of experienced charmers who have spent weeks molding the character, appearance, scent and sound of a man who entered their tutelage with little more social grace than the knowledge that one does not eat peas with man who converses with equal spontaneity a knife, emerges a well-poised gentleman and easie with his employer or a panhandler.

In short, a dandy. No surveys have yet been made of British ladies to ascertain their reaction to this innovation, although one is supposed to presume they enjoy it immensely. It must be a harrowing experience, nevertheless, to adjust one's focus on the man of the house from the image of a pot-bellied sloth reclining in his easy chair with feet propped on the coffee table, aimlessly flicking cigar ashes in a variety of directions, to the perfection of a gentlemanly gentleman.

Psychiatric clinics, female charm schools, marriage counselors and crystal ball consultants are not a few personal service specialists expected to thrive on the results of such a shock.

Blind Prejudice Is Decried

NEW YORK (AP)—A sightless young educator here believes one of America's blindest prejudices is its prejudice against the blind.

"It is prejudice—there is no other word for it," said Dr. Herbert M. Greenberg, 31, assistant professor of sociology at Long Island University.

"The blind are the most discriminated against minority in the United States."

Dr. Greenberg, who lost his own sight at 10 after a mastoid operation, objects to the isolation of the blind in special schools and institutions and the reluctance of many employers to hire blind people for other than menial tasks.

"Three-quarters of all blind children are in segregated schools," he pointed out. "But they don't want to be isolated in this way. It gives them a psychology of defeat."

"You can't spend 18 years in a school for the blind and then come out and adjust to a world of the sighted."

"So many end up going from schools for the blind to workshops for the blind, where they tend to spend the rest of their lives weaving baskets or making mats."

"It is a tragic waste of human skills, a waste we can't afford. This prejudice hurts not only the blind—it hurts society by robbing it of talent which is available, and needed."

Dr. Greenberg, a rugged, athletic man of 31 with a boyish crew cut, is living proof of his contention that a blind student can compete on equal terms in classes with children who can see.

He was a Phi Beta Kappa college graduate at 20. He attended graduate school while working as a consultant on rehabilitation for the city department of welfare here—and took his doctorate degree with honors at 24.

Aided only by a slender aluminum cane, Dr. Greenberg daily travels alone by train and subway the 70-mile round trip between his home near New Brunswick, N. J., and the Brooklyn campus where he teaches. He sees nothing unusual about this.

"If you really need help, you can always ask for it and get it," he said crisply.

Popular with his students, Dr. Greenberg found carrying a full teaching load wasn't enough for a man with his energy and dreams.

So he pursues two other careers. He maintains a private practice in psychotherapy and acts as research director for a Manhattan marketing firm.

"This doesn't leave me much time with my wife and two sons," he said, smiling.

Nevertheless, he does find time to participate in local politics and pursue his hobbies—swimming, bowling, bridge and chess.

Dr. Greenberg is robustly critical of what he regards as false pity for the blind.

"Losing your sight is not as bad as the feeling you get later when people slam doors in your face when all you ask is—not a favor—but merely a chance to prove your ability. That really hurts."

"The funny thing about prejudice is this: Once you get the job, the prejudice melts away. You are treated as an equal."

Danger to the Dollar

This is by no means hindsight. I can point to a long series of articles going back many years to the danger of our dollar and to our gold. I can show the publications of Franz Pick, one of the world's great authorities on currency, cautioning about the dangers to the dollar. He was recognized by some as a prophet, but government officials treated him as though he were a madman.

What was most astonishing in the years since 1948 is that American bankers, who are supposed to be experts in money and currency, ridiculed those who warned that when currency flows out faster than it comes in, there must be one of two results: 1. That the amount of currency backed by gold will be lessened; or 2. That the government will resort to the printing press which must ultimately mean a devaluation.

I once argued this point with a banker who insisted on talking of balances of payments, which has little to do with the problem, and ridiculed the fact that foreign aid and the support of American troops abroad were the crux of the problem. The latter are day by day housekeeping and maintenance expenditures. Bankers can become very pompous when they talk about money, which after all is in the realm of the student of currency.

Now, at this very late date, when the mare has been stolen, along comes a Secretary of the Treasury Anderson with a statement that should have been made at least four years ago in which he says:

"The United States following World War II initiated and continued, through the Marshall Plan and other programs, an unprecedented series of moves calculated to help rebuild the war-devastated nations of Europe and Asia."

"During the years of rebuilding, the United States, through various means, placed dollars in the hands of these other nations so that they might be able, in the processes of their rebuilding, to buy the services and goods which, in the period immediately after the war, only the United States could provide."

At that point the Europeans call attention to the fact that most of the Marshall Plan money was spent in the United States, benefiting our economy by keeping our labor employed. The sharp depression which economists expected around 1948 did not occur in this country. However, the vast amounts expended in various forms of military aid, economic aid, currency stabilization, price protection (coffee, for instance), maintenance of American troops, air bases, etc., etc., by 1957 showed in deficits. The Secretary of the Treasury states this matter with official formality as follows:

"The United States has also bolstered the military security of friendly nations so as to contribute to our mutual security and to deter threats of external aggression. The programs through which these aims are carried out have likewise resulted in providing a flow of dollars abroad, largely as a result of the maintenance of our forces in foreign countries."

"At the same time the United States has undertaken substantial efforts in aiding the economic progress of the developing countries, in an effort to create the economic conditions for lasting peace throughout the world. To the extent that these programs do not increase exports of United States goods and services, they too lead to an outflow of dollars to the competing nations in Europe and Japan."

Put it as you like, we lost our reserves. We now practically have no gold reserve that is not earmarked. It is best to state the facts officially:

"As a result of the above and other factors the United States has been facing continuous deficits in its balance of payments. In the last three years a total of about $10 billion more has been paid out than has been received. The resulting deficits are settled by sizeable outflows of gold and increases in our dollar liabilities. A substantial part of our deficit has been settled in gold, resulting in a decline of about $4-1/2 billion in the Treasury gold stock since the end of 1957."

In a word, with ear-marked gold at about $18,000,000,000, we have lost enough gold to face a serious crisis. Fortunately, the entire Western world has its currency related to the American dollar and must defend it until such a time as the pound sterling can take the position of the dollar in world exchange, unless the United States can restore its gold reserve.

East Liverpool Skeleton Said 3,500 Years Old

EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio (AP)—The complete skeleton of a young adult, believed buried 3,500 years, was found under strips of bark six miles east of here Sunday by an archeological group.

Since November 1959 the Pennsylvania Archeological Society's Beaver Valley chapter has been digging in the Ohio View area of Industry, Pa. The stratified ground of the area preserves skeletal remains well and in earlier excavations the bones of a male adult, a young male and a female and infant were found. All of the remains are sent to the Carnegie Museum at Pittsburgh for further study.

She Ripped Off Cop's Pants, Gets Sentence

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Because her car ripped off the seat of a policeman's pants, Gloria Pereira, 33, must serve five days in jail and she must buy him a new pair of pants.

Policeman Edward Neville, 35, says he was standing by a car giving a motorist directions last Aug. 30 when Mrs. Pereira's sports car whizzed by and its door caught the seat of his trousers.

A jury convicted her Nov. 1 of drunken and hit-and-run driving. Friday a judge decreed her punishment, including a $250 fine.

Ironton Radio Listener Irlked by Soviet Station

IRONTON, Ohio (AP)—"I'm going to write Radio Moscow and ask them what they are talking about," says David F. Thomas of nearby Proctorville. The Russian radio station last Friday said it was broadcasting information on Soviet progress in making a radio map of the sun because Thomas had asked for it.

Thomas, a 51-year-old amateur radio monitor, said he did not make the request. But he supposed it had something to do with his hearing the radio signal of the first Russian sputnik and his correspondents dating back to 1931. Radio Moscow notified him of the broadcast in advance, but he says he missed it and now "I'm in the dark."

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

EARLY IN Robert Taylor's motion picture career, the budding star decided he was being underpaid and sought a raise from the Great Mogul of the MGM studio, the late Louis B. Mayer, who could weep a bucket of tears at will. He sat Taylor down and told him,

"Bob, I have two lovely daughters but no son. If I DID have a son—and I would have liked him to be as handsome, brilliant, and talented as you—I would have told him, 'Son, you are now working for a great studio that one day will make you a great, great star. Don't make the mistake, my son, of demanding a raise now.'"

Taylor was in something of a daze when he found himself back in the anteroom. "Well," demanded his agent, "did you get a raise?" "No," admitted Taylor, "but I got a father."

The World Today

By FRANK CORMIER
(For James Marlow)
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—

When President Eisenhower revised military and foreign aid policies in a move to stem the gold drain, some predicted that his work would be undone next year by President-elect John F. Kennedy.

Don't count on this. As a matter of fact, circumstances might force Kennedy to invoke even sterner measures.

The president-elect is not committed to the Eisenhower action. A Kennedy representative was informed in advance about the administration's plans, but no expression of agreement was sought or given.

Still, Kennedy will not have an entirely free hand in fashioning his own foreign aid and military policies. He must operate in the world as he finds it on Inauguration day—a world in which the United States is steadily losing gold because it spends more money abroad than it receives.

During the election campaign, Kennedy accused the present administration of failure to take prompt and vigorous action to reverse this trend. How will he redeem his own pledge to do better?

In one campaign statement, Kennedy promised action on two fronts:

1. "We will begin immediate and vigorous negotiations to remove artificial barriers to the flow of American goods overseas, as well as restriction on the flow of more capital to this country."

2. "We will ask our allies to share the increasing burden of building the military and economic strength of the free world."

There is nothing new about either approach. The Eisenhower administration has been active in both areas.

However, Kennedy's lack of mention of other possibilities during the campaign can't be taken as a rejection of additional approaches.

While the president-elect has yet to elaborate on his position, some of his advisers have indicated they believe his campaign statement doesn't cover all the steps that will be necessary. One of these, Prof. John Kenneth Galbraith of the economics faculty at Harvard, discussed the gold-dollar problem in a speech a few hours before Eisenhower's new moves were announced on Nov. 16.

Galbraith said many aspects of federal policy must be reviewed in the light of the nation's international financial difficulties. He mentioned some of the very areas in which Eisenhower acted later the same day.

For example, Galbraith said the gold-dollar problem will have an impact in the deployment of troops overseas. He also suggested that a dollar saving program might affect post exchanges and commissaries abroad.

As for helping other nations, Galbraith said there is no reason to "consider economic aid in its present form to be wholly sacrosanct."

The professor said "difficult thought" in the broad area of overseas spending may have been postponed too long.

"Perhaps we will get no adequate action until we have an adequately dramatic portrayal of disaster," he concluded. "Perhaps we can act only out of a sense of despair. We may hope that this is not the case."

In many respects, Eisenhower has chosen the least painful ways in which to deal with the gold problem.

If the problem is indeed serious, and economists of both parties agree that it is, president-elect Kennedy isn't likely to find any less painful solution.

Ohio Non-Farm Employment Shows Decline, State Says

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An October survey of the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation, released today, shows the state non-agricultural employment slipped five-tenths of one per cent from September, to an October total of 3,113,000.

The loss took place in manufacturing, with widespread yet moderate layoffs, including release of temporary cannery workers, the report said.

Non-manufacturing employment was stable as scattered seasonal declines balanced hiring in schools and colleges.

Average weekly earnings of factory production workers amounted to $104.01 in October for a 39 1/2 hour work week, September averages were $104.22 and 40 hours.

The survey showed manufacturing workers numbered 1,225,000 in October, down 1.4 per cent from September. Every major industry, except transportation equipment and printing, decreased. Heaviest layoffs in durable goods were reported by producers of steel and non-electrical machinery.

A sizeable number of employees engaged in the manufacture of electrical equipment were idled by a labor-management dispute. Most of the loss in non-durable goods resulted from the cutback of temporary workers hired by canning companies for the late summer vegetable pack.

BUC surveys said employment in non-manufacturing establishments — 1,888,000 in October—held steady from the previous month.

In non-agricultural employment, the average weekly earnings in October were up $2 compared with October 1959, although the work-week decreased nine-tenths of an hour.

New Living Cost Peak No Surprise

Which Comes First: Price Tag or Ability Of Consumer To Pay?

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—The cost of living has reached a record high again—the surprise of no one. But so has personal income.

This points up the question: Which comes first, the price tag or the consumer's ability to pay? Or, to put it in a way lately fashionable in some circles: Are the manufacturers, the merchants and the advertising fraternity leading the consumer around by the nose? Or is the consumer, as he's so often told, really king?

That the dollar has shrunk in terms of goods and services it will buy isn't news to anyone who pays the family bills.

As told in figures, the Consumer Price Index of the Bureau of Labor Statistics now is 73.6 percent higher than in 1929. (The cost of living index dipped during the 1930s but was back to the 1929 level by 1943.) But today the average weekly factory pay is more than three times what it was in 1929.

Or as told in terms of the sweat of the brow, the hours of work it takes to be able to buy most products have been shrinking faster than the dollar.

A few voices are raised here and there to say that the manufacturer, the merchant and the ad man aren't unmitigated villains in the rising cost of living. And, especially now that the postwar shortages are but a memory, the consumer is in position to lead the seller around by the nose, and frequently does.

"You and I have a greater opportunity than at any time in history to know a great deal about the products we can buy. In general, consumers do an excellent job of choosing." These are quotes from "The Spenders" (McGraw-Hill) by Stuart Henderson Britt, professor of marketing and advertising at Northwestern University.

And another thing that's bothering a lot of folk of late: Fads and fashions. Are they the devilish scheme of businessmen to bilk the consumer, to trip him of his dough, to turn this into a generation of waste maker? Or do fads and fashions more often trip up the manufacturer and merchant and throw him for a loss?

The answer probably is Both. Creator of fashion changes and new models every year would like you to buy their latest concoction. But it's one thing to promote change and another to be sure which one will catch on.

You can lose a lot of money by guessing wrong which way the consumer will jump. (Detroit had a little trouble with that before turning to the compact car.) And it is estimated that as high as 90 percent of all new product fail to make money.

The fad of bare legs for females was hardly the idea of the stocking makers. But when fads are planned—as when Paris decrees the length of skirts—their effects aren't confined to just what is planned. As Britt notes: "The number of inches of leg exposed—either bare or nylon clad

What Were Top News Stories?

Editors of Associated Press member newspapers are now pondering what were the top ten news stories of 1960.

Newspaper readers may wish to make their own tabulation. Following is a list of the year's main news-makers.

Settlement of the protracted steel strike.

Thirty-four die in crash of National Airlines DC-6B in North Carolina; suspect New York lawyer-passenger of blowing up plane.

Frenchmen riot in Algeria in protest over De Gaulle policies. Eisenhower's visit to South America.

Execution of Caryl Chessman at San Quentin.

Collapse of the summit conference and worsening of East-West relations.

Deadly earthquakes in Chile touch off tidal waves in Japan, Hawaii.

Space and nuclear affairs: Russians photograph dark side of moon; U.S. retrieves space capsule; Polaris-armed nuclear sub George Washington puts out to sea; nuclear sub Triton voyages around the world without surfacing; France explodes atomic device, joins nuclear club.

Independence for Belgian Congo, ensuing chaos and U.N. intervention; peaceful transition to in-—affects not only men but also the styles of shoes, skirts, dresses, hats, jewelry, suits, coats.

Another thing about today's higher prices: A lot are hidden. That is, without being told as much, you pay for many services.

Examples: In filling stations the cost of gas covers a lot of supposedly free services; the price of bread covers the slicing and wrapping machines and the delivery trucks; and the price of a suit covers the cost to the store when you say "charge it." But most consumers demand service and are willing to pay for it, especially if the cost is hidden.

Product research and market research and advertising cost the producer money—but more often than not they keep him in business. His aim is to make a profit, but that depends on the consumer because Britt says, "to make a profitable product he must produce what you and I want and need."

Advertising is aimed at selling the product but in the process it tells us a lot about the product and its variety of uses. That's why Americans are, or should be, the best informed of consumers.

So what do we do? We decide how to spend our money—whether to buy power steering or to go in for heat-and-serve dinners. A lot of manufacturers of late have had to learn that—and to lump it.

dependence of former French and British colonies in Africa and their mass admission to the U.N.

Missing Danville Boy Found Hiding in Cabin

MOUNT VERNON, Ohio (AP)—Gordon Hughett, 17, of nearby Danville, has turned up safe in a cabin in eastern Knox County after being missing a week. Skin divers had searched the Mohican River for his body after his turning motor scooter was found near the river bank, off a highway in the extreme northeast end of the county.

Authorities quoted the boy as saying he staged his disappearance because of personal problems. He told officers he tried to make it appear he had drowned. An uncle found him in the cabin which Gordon had stocked with provisions.

Dayton Area Man Finds Hand Grenade in Shack

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A man who found a World War II hand grenade in an old shack in back of his home says he doesn't know how it got there. He said children often played in the shack. Air Force demolition experts will try today to blow the grenade into smithereens.

Woman, 68, Found Bound, Dead on Bed

CADIZ, Ohio (AP)—Harrison County authorities today sought clues in the death of a 68-year-old woman whose bound body was found in her home six miles south-east of here.

The body of Mrs. Angelina DiPaolo, widow of a coal miner killed in a traffic accident 11 years ago, was found Saturday night. Her hands were tied to a bed and a handkerchief was stuffed in her mouth.

Coroner G. E. Henderson said the woman died from exposure. The house was cold because the fire in the furnace had gone out. Henderson said she had been dead about 48 hours when found, but he could not tell how long she had been bound to the bed before she died.

The coroner said Mrs. DiPaolo had not been criminally assaulted. The body was found after a youth noticed a broken window in a door at the woman's home. He called a neighbor who notified authorities.

Sheriff Harry Bailey said the house had been ransacked. About a year ago Mrs. DiPaolo beat off three men who tried to break into her home.

NEW PHILADELPHIA, Ohio (AP)—Authorities early today were seeking four of the five prisoners who fled on foot after following a minister from the Tuscarawas County jail Sunday night.

Norman Clugston, 38, a radio dispatcher at the sheriff's office, said the four still at large were not armed and none was considered dangerous. Clugston was knocked aside by the jail door when the five escaped it was not hurt. He identified the fugitives as:

Willie Gooch, 42, of Dover, who was held on charges of grand larceny, breaking and entering and parole violation.

New Living Cost Peak No Surprise

Which Comes First: Price Tag or Ability Of Consumer To Pay?

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst NEW YORK (AP)—The cost of living has reached a record high again—to the surprise of no one. But so has personal income.

This points up the question: Which comes first, the price tag or the consumer's ability to pay?

Or, to put it in a way lately fashionable in some circles: Are the manufacturers, the merchants and the advertising fraternity leading the consumer around by the nose? Or is the consumer, as he's so often told, really king?

That the dollar has shrunk in terms of goods and services it will buy isn't news to anyone who pays the family bills.

As told in figures, the Consumer Price Index of the Bureau of Labor Statistics now is 73.6 per cent higher than in 1929. (The cost of living index dipped during the 1930s but was back to the 1929 level by 1943.) But today the average weekly factory pay is more than three times what it was in 1929.

Or as told in terms of the sweat of the brow, the hours of work it takes to be able to buy most products have been shrinking faster than the dollar.

A few voices are raised here and there to say that the manufacturer, the merchant and the ad man aren't unmitigated villains in the rising cost of living. And, especially now that the postwar shortages are but a memory, the consumer is in position to lead the seller around by the nose, and frequently does.

"You and I have a greater opportunity than at any time in history to know a great deal about the products we can buy. In general, consumers do an excellent job of choosing." These are quotes from "The Spenders" (McGraw-Hill) by Stuart Henderson Britt, professor of marketing and advertising at Northwestern University.

And another thing that's bothering a lot of folk of late: Fads and fashions. Are they the devilish scheme of businessmen to bilk the consumer, to trip him of his dough, to turn this into a generation of waste maker? Or do fads and fashions more often trip up the manufacturer and merchant and throw him for a loss?

The answer probably is Both. Creator of fashion changes and new models every year would like you to buy their latest concoction. But it's one thing to promote change and another to be sure which one will catch on.

You can lose a lot of money by guessing wrong which way the consumer will jump. (Detroit had a little trouble with that before turning to the compact car.) And it is estimated that as high as 90 per cent of all new product fail to make money.

The fad of bare legs for females was hardly the idea of the stocking makers. But when fads are planned—as when Paris decrees the length of skirts—their effects aren't confined to just what is planned. As Britt notes: "The number of inches of leg exposed—either bare or nylon clad

What Were Top News Stories?

Editors of Associated Press member newspapers are now pondering what were the top ten news stories of 1960.

Newspaper readers may wish to make their own tabulation. Following is a list of the year's main news-makers.

Settlement of the protracted steel strike.

Thirty-four die in crash of National Airlines DC-6B in North Carolina; suspect New York lawyer-passenger of blowing up plane.

Frenchmen riot in Algeria in protest over De Gaulle policies.

Eisenhower's visit to South America.

Race rioting in South Africa and attempted assassination of Prime Minister Verwoerd.

Student riots initiate downfall of Rhee in Korea and Menderes in Turkey.

Shooting down of U-2 reconnaissance plane over Russia and trial of pilot Powers.

Marriage of Princess Margaret of Britain to commoner Anthony Armstrong-Jones.

Execution of Caryl Chessman at San Quentin.

Collapse of the summit conference and worsening of East-West relations.

Deadly earthquakes in Chile touch off tidal waves in Japan, Hawaii.

Capture of Nazi war criminal Adolf Eichmann in Argentina by Israelis.

Space and nuclear affairs: Russians photograph dark side of moon; U.S. retrieves space capsule; Polaris-armed nuclear sub George Washington puts out to sea; nuclear sub Triton voyages around the world without surfacing; France explodes atomic device, joins nuclear club.

Independence for Belgian Congo, ensuring chaos and U.N. intervention; peaceful transition to in-

—affects not only men but also the styles of shoes, skirts, dresses, hats, jewelry, suits, coats.

Another thing about today's higher prices: A lot are hidden. That is, without being told as much, you pay for many services.

Examples: In filling stations the cost of gas covers a lot of supposedly free services; the price of bread covers the slicing and wrapping machines and the delivery trucks; and the price of a suit covers the cost to the store when you say "charge it." But most consumers demand service and are willing to pay for it, especially if the cost is hidden.

Product research and market research and advertising cost the producer money—but more often than not they keep him in business. His aim is to make a profit, but that depends on the consumer because Britt says, "to make a profitable product he must produce what you and I want and need."

Advertising is aimed at selling the product but in the process it tells us a lot about the product and its variety of uses. That's why Americans are, or should be, the best informed of consumers.

So what do we do? We decide how to spend our money—whether to buy power steering or to go in for heat-and-serve dinners. A lot of manufacturers of late have had to learn that—and to lump it.

dependence of former French and British colonies in Africa and their mass admission to the U.N. Eisenhower's visit to Japan cancelled in wake of riots; Kishi resigns.

Sit-in demonstrations throughout the South and New Orleans school integration.

Indications of disaffection between Soviet Union and Red China.

Floyd Patterson knocks out Ingemar Johansson to regain title.

Russia's unofficial team victory in the Olympics and the decline of U.S. power in track and field.

Defection of National Security Agency employee Martin and Mitchell.

Disorders in Laos, Vietnam cause concern for Western position in southeast Asia.

Hurricane Donna batters Florida, Carolinas, New York, New England.

Castro's turn toward the Soviet orbit and worsening of U.S.-Cuban relations.

Visit of Khrushchev and satellite leaders to the U.N.

Pittsburgh Pirates win World Series.

Death of 61 persons in crash of Eastern Airlines Electra in Boston; birds on runway blamed.

Gold crisis threatens U.S. balance of payments position, foreign aid and stability of the dollar.

Kennedy beats Nixon in one of closest U.S. elections.

Clark Gable dies of heart attack.

Missing Danville Boy Found Hiding in Cabin

MOUNT VERNON, Ohio (AP)—Gordon Hughett, 17, of nearby Danville, has turned up safe in a cabin in eastern Knox County after being missing a week. Skin divers had searched the Mohican River for his body after his turn in the motor scooter was found near the river bank, off a highway in the extreme northeast end of the county.

Authorities quoted the boy as saying he staged his disappearance because of personal problems. He told officers he tried to make it appear he had drowned. An uncle found him in the cabin which Gordon had stocked with provisions.

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A man who found a World War II hand grenade in an old shack in back of his home says he doesn't know how it got there. Miss Miriam Ward. Mrs. Brooks introduced Mrs. Robert Gossett, teacher and world traveler, who showed colored slides and narrated "The Miracle of Oberammergau." She gave a brief review of her journey abroad. She explained that Oberammergau, point of discussion, is a small Bavarian village noted for its artistic woodcarving industry.

The story of Christ's Passion, is a pageant given here every ten years, with actors chosen from the 5,000 inhabitants. It is said that the people, about 326 years ago made a sacred vow that if the black plague was removed from their village they would portray the last days of Jesus on earth.

The first performance was given in 1634 and has been produced every ten years. The pageant is staged in a large auditorium. It is given three days a week and runs through the summer months. The pageant is seven and a half hours long and is spoken in German. Script is available in French and English.

Mrs. Gossett advised that anyone in the vicinity of Oberammergau during the pageant season should witness this remarkable performance, adding, "this is truly a once in a lifetime experience."

Following the film, a quartette, Mary Ellen Downs, Jeanne Walker, Gretchen Hott and Judy Welsh sang "You'll Never Walk Alone" and "Bless This House".

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

Both a Little 'Graceless'!

DEAR ABBY: Recently, while dining at the home of friends, the host said "grace." I thought it was a beautiful gesture, although we have never observed it in our home.

The next time I entertained these people at dinner, I asked this guest to say "grace." He said, "It's your home—you do it." I was so upset I could hardly eat my dinner. Should he have answered me in that way, and what should I have done?

DEAR GRACIOUS: He shouldn't have answered you in that way, and you should have made up a simple "grace." Understandably, you were caught off guard, but "We thank Thee, Lord, for this food," would have saved the day.

DEAR ABBY: I am 15 years old and I need a bra, but my mother makes me wear my brother's undershirt. I am so ashamed I say I don't feel well to get out of taking gym. Now my gym teacher knows that something is wrong because I have missed so many gym classes. I can't tell her the reason I hate to take gym and my mother won't listen to me. Can you give me some advice?

DEAR "JUDY": Tell your gym teacher the truth. I'll bet she will be more understanding and helpful than you thought she'd be. When you are honest with teachers, they can perform "miracles."

DEAR ABBY: We are the parents of four wonderful adopted children. One of the boys is part Indian. He is bright and lovable, but his skin is darker than the rest. When we take our family places, thoughtless strangers gawk at us like we were from outer space. I don't mind that so much, but I've had people stop me in restaurants and on the street and ask, "Are they all adopted? Is the dark one Korean? Are they really brothers and sisters? Where did you get them?"

Of course, when you adopt a child of a minority race you expect some problems, but I hope some of your readers will think twice before asking cruel questions.

"Passion Play" Pictures Are Viewed at Robtown EUB

Pictures of the "Passion Play" were viewed Tuesday night at the Robtown EUB Church.

The benefit program was sponsored by the Scioto Chapel Ladies Aid to go towards a new kitchen in the parish house.

Mrs. Elzie Brooks welcomed the guests. She gave Scripture. A Thanksgiving prayer was voiced by the Rev. John Morgan. Mrs. Cecil Ward and Mrs. Brooks sang "Rock of Ages" accompanied by Miss Miriam Ward.

Mrs. Brooks introduced Mrs. Robert Gossett, teacher and world traveler, who showed colored slides and narrated "The Miracle of Oberammergau". She gave a brief review of her journey abroad. She explained that Oberammergau, point of discussion, is a small Bavarian village noted for its artistic woodcarving industry.

The story of Christ's Passion, is a pageant given here every ten years, with actors chosen from the 5,000 inhabitants. It is said that the people, about 326 years ago made a sacred vow that if the black plague was removed from their village they would portray the last days of Jesus on earth.

The first performance was given in 1634 and has been produced every ten years. The pageant is staged in a large auditorium. It is given three days a week and runs through the summer months. The pageant is seven and a half hours long and is spoken in German. Script is available in French and English.

Mrs. Gossett advised that anyone in the vicinity of Oberammergau during the pageant season should witness this remarkable performance, adding, "this is truly a once in a lifetime experience."

Following the film, a quartette, Mary Ellen Downs, Jeanne Walker, Gretchen Holt and Judy Welsh sang "You'll Never Walk Alone" and "Bless This House".

Following prayer by the Rev. Morgan, guests were invited to the parish house for refreshments.

Pair of Rookies Stalls Baltimore Drive for Crown

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Beaten by a pair of quick-thinking rookies, the Baltimore Colts today were trying to locate the malfunctioning machinery that threatens to stall their drive for a third consecutive National Football League championship.

The Philadelphia Eagles began preparations for a possible title-clincher this week at St. Louis after Sunday's 31-23 victory over the New York Giants virtually put a lock on their first Eastern Conference crown since 1949.

With three games to go, the Eagles (8-1) are 2½ games ahead of the Giants and Cleveland Browns, who lost an opportunity to take over the runner-up spot when they were tied 17-17 by the improving Cardinals.

The Colts were upset by San Francisco 30-22 when rookie end Dee Mackey took a 16-yard pass from the third-string quarterback Bobby Waters, then laterally to R. C. Owens for a 41-yard touchdown play with only a minute and a half remaining.

The loss left Baltimore (6-3) with a slim half-game edge over the onrushing Chicago Bears. The Bears whipped winless Dallas 17-7 for a 5-3-1 record and kept a slight lead over idle Green Bay and the 49ers, tied for third with 5-4 marks.

Pittsburgh defeated Washington 22-10 in the only other game scheduled. Detroit, which beat the Packers Thanksgiving Day, also was idle and Los Angeles drew a bye.

Johnny Unitas threw three touchdown strikes for the Colts—10 yards to Ray Berry, 6 to Alex Hawkins and 65 to Lenny Moore—but the Baltimore quarterback had five aerials intercepted and lost the ball once on a fumble.

The Eagles came from behind twice for their second triumph over the Giants on successive weekends as Norm Van Brocklin passed for three touchdowns. His second to Ted Dean, a 49-yarder in the fourth quarter, pulled Philadelphia ahead to stay after second- and third-period field goals by

Pat Summerall put New York out front 23-17.

The Giants, defending Eastern champions, had built an early 17-0 lead on TD heaves of 71 and 11 yards from sub quarterback George Shaw to Kyle Rote and a Summerall field goal but were unable to match the Eagles in the second half.

Cleveland grabbed a 17-7 half time edge as Milt Plum fired a 20-yard scoring pass to Gern Nagler and connected with Leon Clarke for a two-yard TD flip while Sam Baker kicked a 42-yard field goal. But the Cards (5-4-1) came back to gain a tie on Gerry Perry's 23-yard field goal and a 12-yard touchdown toss from John Roach to Sonny Randle.

The Bears took a 7-0 lead over Dallas (0-10) in the first period on Rick Casares' five-yard touchdown run, then clinched it in the second quarter on a 20-yard scoring pitch from Ed Brown to Johnny Morris. The Cowboys' lone touchdown came on a 64-yard pass from Don Heinrich to Don McHenry.

Logan Elm Unit Nipped by Aces In 65-56 Tilt

Logan Elm evened its cage record at 1-1 after dropping a 65-56 decision at Amanda-Clearcreek Saturday night.

Logan Elm rolled to an early lead in the first quarter, but couldn't stem the tide after Bill Brown put the hosts ahead with a jump shot about midway in the second quarter. Amanda-Clearcreek led, 33-24, at halftime and 49-38, at the end of the third period.

Chuck Spangler of Logan Elm, hitting with consistent accuracy around the key, fired through for 26 points. Hart added 11.

Amanda-Clearcreek staged a two-pronged attack as Roger Gussett smacked 26 and Brown 20. Gussett got 12 of his markers at the charity line.

The hosts swept the reserve contest, 34-21. Beougher paced the winners with eight points and Horn and Burger had seven each for Logan Elm.

Pair of Rookies Stalls Baltimore Drive for Crown

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Beaten by a pair of quick-thinking rookies, the Baltimore Colts today were trying to locate the malfunctioning machinery that threatens to stall their drive for a third consecutive National Football League championship.

The Philadelphia Eagles began preparations for a possible title-clincher this week at St. Louis after Sunday's 31-23 victory over the New York Giants virtually put a lock on their first Eastern Conference crown since 1949.

With three games to go, the Eagles (8-1) are 2½ games ahead of the Giants and Cleveland Browns, who lost an opportunity to take over the runner-up spot when they were tied 17-17 by the improving Cardinals.

The Colts were upset by San Francisco 30-22 when rookie end Dee Mackey took a 16-yard pass from the third-string quarterback Bobby Waters, then laterally to R. C. Owens for a 41-yard touchdown play with only a minute and a half remaining.

The loss left Baltimore (6-3) with a slim half-game edge over the onrushing Chicago Bears. The Bears whipped winless Dallas 17-7 for a 5-3-1 record and kept a slight lead over idle Green Bay and the 49ers, tied for third with 5-4 marks.

Pittsburgh defeated Washington 22-10 in the only other game scheduled. Detroit, which beat the Packers Thanksgiving Day, also was idle and Los Angeles drew a bye.

Johnny Unitas threw three touchdown strikes for the Colts—10 yards to Ray Berry, 6 to Alex Hawkins and 65 to Lenny Moore—but the Baltimore quarterback had five aeriels intercepted and lost the ball once on a fumble.

The Eagles came from behind twice for their second triumph over the Giants on successive weekends as Norm Van Brocklin passed for three touchdowns. His second to Ted Dean, a 49-yarder in the fourth quarter, pulled Philadelphia ahead to stay after second- and third-period field goals by

Pat Summerall put New York out front 23-17.

The Giants, defending Eastern champions, had built an early 17-0 lead on TD heaves of 71 and 11 yards from sub quarterback George Shaw to Kyle Rote and a Summerall field goal but were unable to match the Eagles in the second half.

Cleveland grabbed a 17-7 half-time edge as Milt Plum fired a 20-yard scoring pass to Gern Nagler and connected with Leon Clarke for a two-yard TD flip while Sam Baker kicked a 42-yard field goal. But the Cards (5-4-1) came back to gain a tie on Gerry Perry's 23-yard field goal and a 12-yard touchdown toss from John Roach to Sonny Randle.

The Bears took a 7-0 lead over Dallas (0-10) in the first period on Rick Casares' five-yard touchdown run, then clinched it in the second quarter on a 20-yard scoring pitch from Ed Brown to Johnny Morris. The Cowboys' lone touchdown came on a 64-yard pass from Don Heinrich to Don McIlhenny.

Tom Tracey kicked field goals

Logan Elm Unit Nipped by Aces In 65-56 Tilt

Logan Elm evened its cage record at 1-1 after dropping a 65-56 decision at Amanda-Clearcreek Saturday night.

Logan Elm rolled to an early lead in the first quarter, but couldn't stem the tide after Bill Brown put the hosts ahead with a jump shot about midway in the second quarter. Amanda-Clearcreek led, 33-24, at halftime and 49-38, at the end of the third period.

Chuck Spangler of Logan Elm, hitting with consistent accuracy around the key, fired through for 26 points. Hart added 11.

Amanda-Clearcreek staged a two-pronged attack as Roger Gussett smacked 26 and Brown 20. Gussett got 12 of his markers at the charity line.

The hosts swept the reserve contest, 34-21. Beougher paced the winners with eight points and Horn and Burger had seven each for Logan Elm.

4 Tilts Played In ONG Loop

Elks, Orient, Dick's And Hunsicker's Win

Ohio National Guard basketball action continued yesterday with four games played at the E. Franklin St. Armory.

Grabbing wins were Scioto Elks, Orient Farmers Exchange, Dick's Hardware and Hunsicker's Elevator.

Scioto Elks remained undefeated with a 74-60 decision over Walnut Twp. in a game which stayed close most of the way.

Charlie Johnson's 18 points topped the winners and Jake Bailey and Frank Mickey added 11 each. M. Barr led Walnut with 20 tallies.

KAISER'S 19 points and 15 by Dickie Melvin sparked the charge for Orient which handed Blue Ribbon Dairy its first loss, 60-43. Collins was high for Blue Ribbon with 13.

Dick's Hardware won over National Guard, 66-55, behind 19 points by F. Acord and 11 by Roger McConnell. Don Rowland smacked 25 for ONG.

Hunsicker's grabbed an early lead and went on to down McFarland's 86-73. Miller sparked the winners with 28 points and Wardell came through with 20.

McFarland's attack was led by Charlie Galloway's 24 points and Cecil Galloway added 17.

ONG cage action resumes Tuesday with three more games slated at the Armory.

Michigan State's 76-man football squad includes 14 married players.

Redskins Nip Scioto, 60-40

Kingston maintained its mastery over Pickaway County teams Saturday night by handing host Scioto a 60-40 defeat.

It marked the Redskins' fourth straight win over Pickaway teams and a current undefeated mark for Kingston.

Scioto, playing its second game of the season, was paced by Sonny Kerschner's 16 points and 13 by Bob Whiteside.

Dan Vollmar of the Redskins continued his scoring knack to rack 18 points for the evening. The rest of the Kingston scoring was balanced between nine players.

Kingston also won the reserve contest in a 41-30 battle.

NOTICE OF SALE OF BONDS

The undersigned, Clerk of the Board of Education of Teays Valley Local School District, hereby certifies to the Board, in the Counties of Pickaway, Franklin and Fairfield, Ohio, at his office at Ashville, R. 2, Ohio, until 11:00 o'clock a. m., EST., on the 21 day of December, 1960, at which time the bids will be publicly opened and read for the purchase of bonds of the Board in the aggregate amount of $1,760,000.00, authorized by resolution adopted November 1959.

Said bonds shall be dated the 1st day of December, 1960, shall be in the denomination of $1,000.00 each, and shall draw interest payable semi-annually on the 1st days of June and December of each year, beginning January 1, 1961, at the rate of 4 1/2 per cent per annum. Anyone desiring to do so may present a bid for said bonds based upon their bearing a different rate of interest, but not in excess of 6 per cent, provided that where a fractional interest rate is bid, such fraction shall be one-quarter of one per cent or a multiple thereof.

Said bonds mature as follows: $44,000.00 on the 1st day of June and $44,000.00 on the 1st day of December in each of the years 1962 to 1981, both inclusive.

Said bonds are issued for the purpose of acquisition of real estate, construction of new fireproof high school buildings, remodeling existing fireproof school buildings, furnishing, equipping and landscaping the same.

If each of two or more bids is the highest bid offering the lowest interest rate, the bonds will be awarded on such one of said highest bids as is chosen by the said clerk by lot. All bids must be accompanied by a bond or certified check on a solvent bank (other than the bidder) payable to the Board, in the amount of one per cent of the par amount of the bonds bid, upon condition that if the bid is accepted, the bidder will receive and pay for such bonds in accordance with the terms and provisions of this notice, or forfeit the same as liquidated damages in the event said condition is not complied with.

Bids shall be sealed and endorsed "Bid for Teays Valley Local School District, Pickaway, Franklin, and Fairfield Counties, Ohio, Bonds."

The proceedings for this issue have been taken under the supervision of Bricker, Eckert, Barto, Eckler & Niehoff, Bond Attorneys, Columbus, Ohio, whose approving opinion will be furnished by the Board to the successful bidder without expense. A complete transcript of proceedings and the printed copy of the Board's resolution, together with usual closing papers.

National College Football Championship Is Undecided

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

With all the major bowls filled, the only question remaining on the college football front today was:

Who is the national champion? There are three major candidates.

1. Minnesota. The Gophers climbed all the way from the Big Ten basement last year to a tie with Iowa for the title this season. They wound up with an 8-1 record and were the only team to beat Iowa during the season. They were picked to oppose Washington in the Rose Bowl and were selected as No. 1 in last week's Associated Press poll.

2. Iowa. The Hawkeyes finished just seven points behind Minnesota in last week's poll. They also had an 8-1 record and permitted only Minnesota and Wisconsin to score more than one touchdown. In only one game (against Minnesota) did they score less than three touchdowns.

3. Mississippi. The Rebels wound up their season last Saturday with a solid 35-9 conquest over Mississippi State. They finished behind Minnesota and Iowa in last week's poll but wound up the season as the only team in the top 10 that managed to escape defeat. Their season record was 9-0-1. The tie was a 6-6 standoff with Louisiana State.

Of the three Iowa is the only one out in the cold in the scramble for bowl bids. Big Ten teams are permitted to play only in the Rose Bowl and the selection of Minnesota left the Hawkeyes on the outside looking in.

Here is how the major bowl picture shapes up:

Rose—Washington (9-1) vs. Minnesota (8-1).

Cotton—Arkansas (8-2) vs. Duke (7-2).

Sugar—Mississippi (9-0-1) vs. Rice (8-2).

Orange—Missouri (9-1) vs. Navy (9-1).

Gator—Baylor (8-2) vs. Florida (8-2).

Liberty—Penn State (6-3) vs. Oregon (7-2-1).

Bluebonnet—Alabama (8-1-1) vs. Texas (7-3).

Sun—New Mexico State (10-0) vs. Utah State (9-1).

With all the scrambling for teams after Saturday's games, the Orange Bowl probably got the prize plum in Navy. Right after the Middles whipped Army, 17-12, to wrap up the Eastern title, they accepted a bid to the Miami game on Jan. 2.

Mississippi decided to return to the Sugar Bowl after winning the Southeastern Conference championship again. Ole Miss will be favored over Rice, which finished operations with a 12-7 beating at the hands of Baylor.

Alabama was tapped to oppose Texas in the Bluebonnet Bowl in Houston Dec. 17 right after the Crimson Tide edged Auburn, 3-0, on Tom Brooker's field goal.

The Sun Bowl tapped New Mexico State, one of the two major teams in the country to wind up unbeaten and untied. The Aggies defeated Texas Western, 27-15, in their final game. Yale was the only other major school to get through its schedule unscathed.

With the talent spread so thin over the eight major bowls, the proposed Gotham Bowl in New York, scheduled for Dec. 10, probably will be called off for another year.

Tavern Team Drops Close Pin Match

Jack's Tavern, local travelling bowling team, lost a three-game bowling match to the Jackson Elks yesterday by a total of 29 pins.

Walt Zahard was high for the set. Bob Callihan had a 528. Jim Oney was tops for Jackson with 585 pins.

Stocklen and Lutz High for Juniors

Tom Stocklen and Butch Lutz each rolled a 211 single game in Junior League bowling Saturday at Circle D.

Stocklen led series scores with a 516. Lutz came through with a 478 and Petey Noble a 426. All scores were without handicap.

Stocklen and Lutz also turned in a 2-10 split each.

CLEVELAND KILLED

CLEVELAND (AP) — A man identified by police as Claude J. Rice, 53, of Cleveland was shot and killed Sunday night after he broke down the front door of the house where his wife was staying. Police held his wife, Lessie, 33, without charge.

Officers said Mrs. Rice, a beauty salon operator, told them she fired once at her husband with a revolver after he kicked in the door at the home of her mother, Mrs. Anna Walker. She said she and a daughter, Daphne, 11, went there after Rice hit her with a pop bottle Saturday night.

The big one Saturday was the Army-Navy game in Philadelphia and it went off pretty much as expected. Navy did all its scoring in the first half on a 4-yard buck by Joe Bellino, a 27-yard field goal by Greg Mather and a 12-yard pass from Hal Spooner to Jim Luper.

Army woke up in the second half and dominated the proceedings. Al Rushatz bulldozed over from the 1 for two touchdowns. In the end, Bellino had to intercept a pass on the goal line and run it back to the 45 to pull the Middles out of danger.

Notre Dame broke an eight-game losing streak by downing Southern California, 17-0, but the Cavaliers took it on the chin from North Carolina, 35-8, for their 27th straight loss. Oklahoma finished a miserable season (the first time in 12 years they haven't been champions of the Big Eight) by defeating Oklahoma State, 17-6. In a major upset, the Air Force Academy decisively Colorado 16-6.

Browns Hopes For Title Grow Faint

CLEVELAND (AP) — The 1960 Cleveland Browns, dubbed by Coach Paul Brown as his "unluckiest team," have yet to win a second-round match with their National Football League rivals this season.

A 17-17 tie at St. Louis Sunday with the Cardinals, whom the Browns whipped 28-7 two weeks earlier, left Cleveland in a second-place tie with the New York Giants. The Browns have only a faint mathematical chance to overtake the Eastern Division leaders, the Philadelphia Eagles.

The Eagles' only loss in nine games was a 41-24 pasting they took from Cleveland in the opener, but they avenged that by winning, 31-29, four weeks later. One more Philadelphia victory assures the Eagles of the division crown, regardless of what either New York or Cleveland does in the final three games.

The Browns also lost their rematch with the Pittsburgh Steelers, and next Sunday the return game with the Washington Redskins comes up here. Cleveland beat the last-placers, 31-10, a month ago.

In posting only the third tie of their 11 years play in the NFL, the Browns were outgained on the ground and in the air by the Cards, who made 10 of their points in the second half while they blanked the visitors.

Cleveland was unable to get a single first down in the third quarter.

Child Neglect Trial Slated To Resume

CLEVELAND (AP)—The second child neglect trial of Mrs. Lillian Fratanio resumes today. And the fight continues over admission as evidence of an alleged confession by the defendant that she fed barbiturates to her two "sleeping beauty" daughters.

Mrs. Anthony Laricne, mother of the petite 29-year-old Mrs. Fratanio, was expected to be among today's witnesses. Defense attorneys Leonard J. Krajewski and James J. McNamara also indicated they may ask the defendant's husband, Vincent, to testify in an attempt to prove that his wife's statement was given to police involuntarily and under duress.

The Juvenile Court jury of six men and six women was excused when arguments on admissibility of the statement started Wednesday. Mrs. Fratanio claimed from the witness stand that police pressured her into making the statement while she was confined at St. Ann Hospital Aug. 13 after the birth of her fifth child.

Asst. County Prosecutor Thomas L. Osborne brought out in cross-examination that police had shown her consideration during the questioning and had permitted her husband to remain at her side at the time.

Portions of the statement which were read showed that Mrs. Fratanio had admitted feeding sleep-inducing drugs to her daughters—Bernadette, 3, and Venita, 5—which kept them in a state of virtual suspended animation for long periods.

The mother told Krajewski and Osborne she had made no such admission, but instead had denied drugging her daughters.

Anti-Kennedy Plot in Dixie Seen Flopping

ATLANTA (AP)—An Associated Press survey shows no indication of dissatisfied Southern Democratic electors obtaining sufficient strength to prevent the election of John F. Kennedy as president in the Electoral College.

Kennedy needs 269 electoral votes and according to latest returns his count is holding at 300. This includes 12 from Georgia, 10 from Louisiana, 8 from Arkansas, 14 from North Carolina, 8 from South Carolina and 5 who won in Alabama on a pledged basis.

Mississippi's 8 electors and the other 6 in Alabama ran in the Nov. 8 general election as unpledged and won. They talked of some other states joining in an Electoral College bolt with the hope of providing a possible bargaining lever on civil rights.

But the survey disclosed sentiment for Kennedy or outright commitments in his behalf in most of the other states in the South.

Georgia's electors are unpledged under state law, but Gov. Ernest Vandiver's office told The Associated Press that Georgia will give unanimous support to the nominee.

In Louisiana a new move is afoot to swing the state's 10 electors away from Kennedy. However, Frank B. Ellis, one of the regular Democratic electors and Kennedy-Johnson campaign chief in the state, said all are for Kennedy. Polled last week, 8 of the 10 answered to that effect.

Recount, Other Headaches Face Cincinnati Poll Chiefs

CINCINNATI (AP) — A recount still overshadows the Nov. 8 election in Hamilton County but the County Board of Elections faces headaches after the matter is settled.

Hamilton Countians are asking themselves the answer to the riddle of errors that turned up in the canvass of votes for the County Commission and a Common Pleas Court bench post.

Every effort should be made to prevent recurrence. But more important: Errors of any kind shake the public confidence in the election process.

The four men responsible for Hamilton County elections agree that voting devices of some kind are needed. But it isn't as simple as that.

Democrats John A. Wieth and George Willis and Republicans George F. Eyrich Jr. and William H. Kreidler wonder if today's machines are feasible, economically and otherwise.

To equip the 1,301 county precincts would call for about 3,903 machines at a cost over $7 million.

The board also has agreed voting machine purchases should be authorized by a county referendum.

A $3 million bond issue was proposed for machines back in 1955 after serious and fraudulent errors were discovered in the 1954 election. It failed nearly 2-1.

"We're on the spot because of that referendum," said Wieth. "If we had never had a bone issue, we'd be better off."

Machines in use today weigh about 1,000 pounds, cost up to $1,800. If the board bought 3,903 new ones it might have to buy or build a warehouse to store them.

There are other costs: Moving the machines from storage to the polling places and back, and the cost of maintenance personnel.

Kreidler has suggested consolidating precincts around central voting places such as schools. These voting spots could hold a large number of machines and perhaps store them.

The board is most interested in small, compact, lightweight machines.

"When this (recount) is all over, we're going to invite people in to show us voting machines—the latest," said Wieth. "If we find what we think will do the job here then we'll ask the people to let us have them."

One small machine has been developed only recently. Voters ballot with a small punch card in a machine that weighs 35 pounds, is about 30 inches by 15 inches and costs about $500.

But to get a tally, these cards must be run through a computer which costs $5,000 or more.

Willis said he asked the Los Angeles County, Calif., vote registrar for details on a machine used there Nov. 8. He said:

"We've got to find some sort of system where there is less chance for human error."

"If we can find some way to cut down the number of steps involved in the county, we will be much better off. We should take the vote casting and counting procedure step by step to see where corrections can be made."

Eyrich said that as an interim measure, the board might consider holding a school for precinct ballot counters. It would involve 7,800 workers.

The Juvenile Court jury of six men and six women was excused when arguments on admissibility of the statement started Wednesday. Mrs. Fratantonio claimed from the witness stand that police pressured her into making the statement while she was confined at St. Ann Hospital Aug. 13 after the birth of her fifth child.

Asst. County Prosecutor Thomas L. Osborne brought out in cross-examination that police had shown her consideration during the questioning and had permitted her husband to remain at her side at the time.

Portions of the statement which were read showed that Mrs. Fratantonio had admitted feeding sleep inducing drugs to her daughters—Bernadette, 3, and Venita, 5—which kept them in a state of virtual suspended animation for long periods.

The mother told Krajewski and Osborne she had made no such admission, but instead had denied drugging her daughters.

Steel Mills Agree to No Price Boost

CLEVELAND (AP) — Major steel producers reluctantly agree the market will not support a price increase when the industry's wage rates go up Thursday, Steel Magazine said today.

The publication feels the wage increase will be passed along to consumers as soon as market conditions warrant — the only real question being the effective date, the amount, and which company will make the first move.

"Chances are there will be no across-the-board increase initiated by the largest producer — U.S. Steel," the weekly journal said.

With the exception of steel products under strongest competition from imports—which may remain untouched — price increases will probably be restricted to around $3 to $4, Steel predicted.

The magazine reported third quarter earnings of iron and steel companies averaged only 3.4 per cent of sales. It added that fourth quarter results will be worse if nothing is done to offset the Dec. 1 employment cost increases.

Steel said production this week will rebound part way from the low point to which it dropped in last week's Thanksgiving holiday period. The operating rate fell 4.1 percentage points last week to 47.5 per cent of capacity, with a yield of about 1,352,000 net tons of ingots.

Election Speedup

NEW DELHI (AP) — India's third general election, in February, 1962, will be completed in one-fourth the time required for the second election in 1957.

Under new procedures laid down by the chief election commissioner, voting in 1962 will be on three days, each balloting day to be separated by 48 hours. Counting will begin only after the last ballot is cast, but should be completed with eight days of the beginning of the poll.

In 1957 voting was staggered over 16 days, and another 16 days was needed to count the votes. Election officials say the speed-up has been made possible by experience gained in previous elections.

TOP G-MAN—It's a new contract for Paul Richards (left), manager of the Baltimore Orioles, with a reported raise, and Richards now is said to be the highest-paid manager in baseball. With Paul is Lee MacPhail, the Orioles' president. Richards reportedly signed a four-year pact at $50,000 a year plus five cents for each admission over 900,000 at home games.

Anti-Kennedy Plot in Dixie Seen Flopping

ATLANTA (AP)—An Associated Press survey shows no indication of dissatisfied Southern Democratic electors obtaining sufficient strength to prevent the election of John F. Kennedy as president in the Electoral College.

Kennedy needs 269 electoral votes and according to latest returns his count is holding at 300. This includes 12 from Georgia, 10 from Louisiana, 8 from Arkansas, 14 from North Carolina, 8 from South Carolina and 5 who won in Alabama on a pledged basis.

Mississippi's 8 electors and the other 6 in Alabama ran in the Nov. 8 general election as unpledged and won. They talked of some other states joining in an Electoral College bolt with the hope of providing a possible bargaining lever on civil rights.

But the survey disclosed sentiment for Kennedy or outright commitments in his behalf in most of the other states in the South.

Georgia's electors are unpledged under state law, but Gov. Ernest Vandiver's office told The Associated Press that Georgia will give unanimous support to the nominee.

In Louisiana a new move is afoot to swing the state's 10 electors away from Kennedy, however, Frank B. Ellis, one of the regular Democratic electors and Kennedy-Johnson campaign chief in the state, said all are for Kennedy. Polled last week, 8 of the 10 answered to that effect.

Recount, Other Headaches Face Cincinnati Poll Chiefs

CINCINNATI (AP) — A recount still overshadows the Nov. 8 election in Hamilton County but the County Board of Elections faces headaches after the matter is settled.

Hamilton Countians are asking themselves the answer to the riddle of errors that turned up in the canvass of votes for the County Commission and a Common Pleas Court bench post.

Every effort should be made to prevent recurrence. But more important: Errors of any kind shake the public confidence in the election process.

The four men responsible for Hamilton County elections agree that voting devices of some kind are needed. But it isn't as simple as that.

Democrats John A. Wiethe and George Willis and Republicans George F. Eyrich Jr. and William H. Kreidlrow wonders if today's machines are feasible, economically and other ways.

To equip the 1,301 county precincts would call for about 3,903 machines at a cost over $7 million.

The board also has agreed voting machine purchases should be authorized by a county referendum.

A $3 million bond issue was proposed for machines back in 1955 after serious and fraudulent errors were discovered in the 1954 election. It failed nearly 2-1.

"We're on the spot because of that referendum," said Wiethe. "If we had never had a bone issue, we'd be better off."

Machines in use today weigh about 1,000 pounds, cost up to $1,800. If the board bought 3,903 new ones it might have to buy or build a warehouse to store them.

There are other costs: Moving the machines from storage to the polling places and back, and the cost of maintenance personnel.

Kreidlrow has suggested consolidating precincts around central voting places such as schools. These voting spots could hold a large number of machines and perhaps store them.

The board is most interested in small, compact, lightweight machines.

"When this (recount) is all over, we're going to invite people in to show us voting machines—the latest," said Wiethe. "If we find what we think will do the job here then we'll ask the people to let us have them."

One small machine has been developed only recently. Voters ballot with a small punch card in a machine that weighs 35 pounds, is about 30 inches by 15 inches and costs about $500.

But to get a tally, these cards must be run through a computer which costs $5,000 or more.

Willis said he asked the Los Angeles County, Calif., vote registrar for details on a machine used there Nov. 8. He said:

"We've got to find some sort of system where there is less chance for human error."

"If we can find some way to cut down the number of steps involved in the county, we will be much better off. We should take the vote casting and counting procedure step by step to see where corrections can be made."

Eyrich said that as an interim measure, the board might consider holding a school for precinct ballot counters. It would involve 7,800 workers.
